Arabs Refuse Attend Parley

JERUSALEM, (AP)—Palestine Arabs "will flatly refuse to go to London and will insist that other Arab nations also refuse to attend the conferences" in the British capital on the Palestine question, Dr. Hussen El Khalidi, secretary of the Arab executive, said Thursday.

Dr. Khalidi made his statement during an interview shortly after receiving from Lt.-Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine high commissioner, the British government's refusal to accept the Mufti of Jerusalem as a delegate to the conference.

Meanwhile British troops suddenly searched Latrun detention camp for hidden arms and blocked all roads to Tel Aviv after reports of an impending "suspicious action"—possibly an underground attempt to free 500 Jewish detainees at Latrun.

Four Miners Said Drowned In Northern Lake Tragedy

Four men were reported Friday to have drowned Monday at Giauque lake, 52 miles north of Yellowknife, when their canoe sank in the icy lake waters about 300 feet offshore.

Isadore Regnier, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Regnier of Donnelly, in the Peace River district, was one of the victims.

The others were reported to be Frank Hemme, and two men named Patterson and Hauser. All four were employes of Discovery Yellowknife mining company.

Failed Reach Shore

Recovery of the bodies by R.C.M.P. officers indicated the men had failed in attempts to swim to shore. One body was recovered at a point about halfway to shore and a second, about one quarter of the way. The water at the scene of the accident was about 25 feet deep.

It was reported the men were accustomed to bathing regularly in the lake, but their immersions were brief because of the extreme coldness of the water. Only one, Hemme, was said to be a good swimmer.

Second Canoe Sank

Investigators surmised, it was reported, that the powered canoe in which the men were riding sank when it was pulled down by the sinking of a second canoe, loaded with sand, which was lashed to the powered canoe.

At the time of the accident, they were returning to base camp for dinner. They had been hauling sand on a large raft from points along shore to the base camp, where concrete was being mixed for development work on the Discovery mining property.

Apparently, on leaving their loaded raft to go for dinner, they had decided to haul some sand into camp in the second canoe. The canoe with which they hauled the raft and in which they travelled back and forth was powered with an outboard motor. The raft was floated on empty fuel drums.

Tragedy Revealed

When the four failed to arrive at base camp in time for dinner, a searcher went out to investigate the delay. On rounding a point on the lake shore, he was attracted to the scene of the accident by the glint of the sun on the end of the outboard motor, which still was above water, it was reported.

The bodies were recovered by R.C.M.P. and taken to Yellowknife. Regnier's body was flown to Edmonton via C.P.A. Thursday night and sent by train to Donnelly, where the funeral will be held Saturday at the Sacred Heart church. Rev. C. Laroche, O.M.I., will officiate. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Besides his parents, Regnier is survived by six sisters, Mrs. T. C. sansan, Edmonton, Mrs. R. Lussier, McLennan, Mrs. P. Richer, McLennan, Mrs. E. Requier, Donnelly, and Yvonne and Pauline, at home, and three brothers, Victor, of Vawn, Sask., Albert, of Malarpic, Quebec, and John, in Donnelly.

Says U.S. Arrests Yugoslav Official

LONDON, (CP)—The Exchange Telegraph Thursday night quoted the Swiss radio as saying American authorities at Passau on the German-Austrian border had arrested the head of the Yugoslav navigation agency.

The report said no reason was given for the arrest. It identified the Yugoslav as "M. Antonovic".

Passau is on the Danube river, on the German side of the border.

The report followed by a few days allegations by London Yugoslav sources that the United States was withholding from Yugoslavia some $10,000,000 worth of her Danubian shipping.

Landed in Japan Year Ago Today

TOKYO, (AP)— Accurate appraisal of the Oriental mind and brilliant use of intelligence reports on political, military and social conditions in Japan enabled a handful of United States troops to land on the fortress island of Honshu one year ago Friday.

Gen. MacArthur landed 2½ divisions, with which he not only controlled a hostile, uneasy civilian population but began the tremendous job of disarming and disbanding the Japanese army and air force units on Honshu—estimated at something like 3,500,000 men.

From this initial token force, Gen. MacArthur built up his army of occupation and extended the disarmament and demobilization to all of Japan's far-flung island bases and garrisons, encompassing some 7,100,000 enemy troops.

In the light of present knowledge of the dangerous possibilities, Gen. MacArthur's feat reveals daring as well as sound judgement. His decision to utilize the existing Japanese governmental setup, which centred around the emperor and deeply-instilled national traditions, produced results "little short of miraculous," wrote one military appraiser in an annual report covering the demobilization operations.

Imperial Extends Search For Oil

Extending its search for oil, Imperial Oil Ltd. has been granted an exploration lease on approximately 200,000 acres in the region between Provost and Steveville, officials of the department of lands and mines said Friday.

The company is to carry out geophysical survey work in the region.

Approximately 12 townships are covered by the newly granted reservation, according to government officials.

Development work in the area was carried on some years ago by McColl-Frontenac company when it was reported that a number of gas strikes were made. One well was reported to have a flow of 4,000,000 cubic feet per day at a depth of 3,000 feet.

In extending its operations in the area, Imperial Oil is primarily searching for oil, officials said. Also, the company will be in a position to prove up the area between the Provost and Steveville fields.

Ukrainian Editor Draws Pravda Ire

MOSCOW, (AP) — Editors have no right to make an ideological mistake, Pravda said Friday in criticizing the Ukrainian paper Dadansky Ukrainia for printing an article entitled "Allow us to Err." The Communist party organ termed the article "absurd" and said Dadansky Ukrainia obviously had not informed its writers that "this theory to err really means the right to get away from our Soviet ideology — the right to be free from criticism."

Continuing Moves In Steel Strike

By Torchy Anderson

OTTAWA.— General feeling in government circles is that there will be no definite development in the steel strike until after Labor day. But moves and conferences behind the scenes continue, and pessimism and hope alternate almost from hour to hour.

The right of going to and coming from the tightly-picketed Hamilton plant of the Steel Company of Canada and of many other places of business in Canada where men willing to work are being opposed by picket lines is an issue which must be met in the near future.

The dominion government through Labor Minister Mitchell has announced its belief in the right of men to work if they so desire. It also has repeatedly indicated the line of responsibility for law and order—from the municipality through the provincial government to the federal government. In Ontario there is apparent close agreement between the provincial government and Ottawa on the maintenance of law and order. The federal government has sent R.C.M.P. to Hamilton at the request of the Ontario government.

There is no doubt it will follow the "action on request" policy.

HAMILTON, (CP)— About 240 striking war veterans held a parade and meeting Friday before the gates of the picketed Steel Company of Canada plant as an uneasy peace continued on the steel strike front.

Helen Anderson, Hamilton alderman and a Labor-Progressive, told the veterans she thought Ontario provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted Police here on strike duty did not "dare to move at present."

Harold Keeton, president of the veterans' group made up of men on strike at steel, rubber and electrical plants here, read a telegram to C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.), urging him to stand firm in settlement negotiations at Ottawa.

Walter Kubicki, vice-president of the veterans' group, told the men to abandon any idea of bringing knives or other weapons to the picket line in event of a clash. "I think we can handle this without them," he said.

The 240 veterans joined the 150 strike pickets on duty at the gate for a time.

Russian Traitors Sentenced to Die

MOSCOW, (AP)—Gen. Gregorie Semenov, grizzled Cossack counter-revolutionary leader, was sentenced Friday to be hanged and five of his codefendants were ordered shot, at the end of their trial on charges of bearing arms against Russia and spying for Japan.

The remaining two defendants were given long prison terms at hard labor.

Those ordered shot were Constantine V. Rodzaevski, Alexis P. Bakshaev, Lev. P. Vasilevsky, Boris N. Shepunov, and Ivan A. Mihailov. Former Prince Nikolai Ukhtomsky was sentenced to spend 20 years at hard labor and Lev. P. Okhotin to 15 years penal servitude.

Semenov, 56-year-old one time White Guard lieutenant-general and leader of anti-Bolshevik Russians in Manchuria for a quarter of a century, asked for mercy in a final statement to the court, citing the full confession he made.

Of those who received death sentences only two declined to ask clemency. They were Shepunov, 49-year-old former Cerist noble from Azerbaijan and Mikhailov, 55. They said their crimes were too great.

At the opening of their trial last week all eight defendants pleaded guilty to charges arising from what prosecutors said was a 25-year-old plot for a counter-revolution to overthrow the Soviet government. Semenov admitted in court he worked in close collaboration with Japanese generals throughout the war in a plot to seize Asiatic Russia for Japan.

Industry in U.S. Nearing Full Production, Is Report

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Industry in the United States is pouring out civilian goods and services at a rate approaching total production at the climax of the war effort, John D. Small, civilian production administrator, reported Thursday night.

Free for the present from the "stop-and-go" of labor discord, producers of basic materials have reached their virtual capacity, Mr. Small's monthly production report stated. Factories are "within sight of full production of finished goods."

Automobile assembly lines ran 56 percent more in July than in June, while sewing machine output, the other outstanding laggard of reconversion, jumped 30 percent.

The gross national product—the value of the country's productive effort, in 1939 dollars—hit a $130,000,000,000 annual rate in the April-May-June quarter, the C.P.A. director said.

"A somewhat larger increase is now indicated for the third quarter, which may bring gross national production to within five percent of the all-time peak of $142,000,000,000," the report predicted.

The peak was the second quarter of last year, the period of all-out arms production climaxed by Germany's surrender.

Civilian employment hit the unprecedented total of 58,100,000.

Despite this "full employment," Mr. Small estimated more than 5,000,000 workers—3,000,000 women and 2,000,000 men—have withdrawn from the labor force in the year since V-J day.

Russia Refuses Three for U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., (CP)—Soviet Russia refused Thursday to accept Trans-Jordan, Eire and Portugal into the United Nations because they do not maintain diplomatic relations with the Kremlin. This started a fight which almost certainly will be one of the major battles of the forthcoming general assembly.

After nearly five hours of wrangling in two sessions, the U.N. security council had given clearance to only three applicants—Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden.

The United States stood by its opposition to Albania and Outer Mongolia.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, calmly announced his stand on Trans-Jordan before lunch. Delegates of Britain, the Netherlands, Australia, the United States, Egypt, France and Mexico called for an explanation of his reasons.

After an extended discussion, Mr. Gromyko again calmly said he thought he had made himself clear and he had nothing to add.

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate charged Russia with "prejudice" in refusing to accept Trans-Jordan's application on the reason stated and later declared the general assembly should study the whole question if Russia maintained that position.

Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, the Netherlands, served notice he reserved the right to discuss the question in the assembly.

Call A.F.U. Board To Hear Reports

Directors of the Alberta Farmers' Union are being called to Edmonton for a meeting at 2:00 p.m. Monday to consider what action should be taken concerning a proposed non-delivery strike, it was announced Friday.

The call has been issued by R. J. Boritillier, secretary of the A.F.U. at the request of Carl J. Stimpfle, president, who is in Ottawa with the joint delegation from the organization and the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section. The delegation submitted a brief to members of the dominion cabinet Thursday.

The delegation will leave Ottawa Friday night and expected to reach Edmonton Monday morning.

The result of the representations has not been disclosed but it is expected this will be discussed by the A.F.U. board.

At a recent meeting here, the directors decided that if the requests to Ottawa for establishment of a fact finding board to determine parity prices, immediate abolition of the Winnipeg grain exchange and other demands were not granted, a non-delivery strike would be called immediately.

OTTAWA, (CP)—F. T. Appleby, president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, said Thursday night "we are not too well satisfied" after a five-man delegation presented a brief to the government.

Carl Stimpfle, president of the A.F.U., declined to comment on the reception given the delegation's proposals by Reconstruction Minister Howe, Trade Minister MacKinnon and Walter Tucker, (Lib., Rosthern) newly-elected Liberal leader in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Appleby said "we have our minds made up just what we intend doing" but it "depends to quite an extent on the action decided on by the board of the Alberta Farmers' union." He declined to elaborate.

The delegation Friday was to meet W.C. Clarke, deputy minister of finance and assistants of the price control administration to ask that the 30 cents per bushel differential between the $1.55 export price and the $1.25 domestic price be eliminated.

Veterans Urged Tell Intentions

OTTAWA, (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell Friday praised the efforts of employers to provide suitable work for ex-service personnel returning to their former employment and called upon recently-discharged personnel to get in touch with their former employers and declare their intentions.

The minister said some employers were keeping jobs open for veterans who had long been discharged and who did not intend to return to their former jobs.

"It would clear some vacancies in employment for other veterans if any dischargee in this category would inform his pre-enlistment employer that he will not be seeking reinstatement," Mr. Mitchell said.

Russia Asks U.N. to Ascertain Where Allied Bases Are Located

LAKE SUCCESS, N .Y. (CP) — Russia called upon the United Nations security council Friday to determine the number and positions of Allied troops and the whereabouts of Allied air and sea bases in countries other than occupied former enemy territories.

Britain immediately linked the new Russian move with the complaint the Soviet Ukraine has filed against Greece, charging the Greeks were disturbing the peace in Albanian border incidents and criticizing the presence of British troops in Greece during the campaigning for next Sunday's plebiscite there.

But United Nations circles speculated that it opened a whole new phase of Russian policy in the security council.

Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko hoped to lay the new proposal before the council at its meeting Friday afternoon.

Charge Reds Sponsored Clandestine Movement

FRANKFURT, (AP)—United States Intelligence officers said Friday a Soviet-sponsored German clandestine movement was believed operating on a large scale in the three western zones of Germany.

The officers made this report in connection with the espionage arrests at Stuttgart of 15 Germans with Soviet sympathies. An announcement said the ringleaders had confessed to furnishing the Russians information of American troop movements.

The officers said "the Free Germany group was, according to best available information," operating in the American and British zones and recently had become active in the French zone.

The announcement added that at least one of the defendants formerly had worked for the American military government.

The public relations division of the United States forces in the Euorpean theatre confirmed a disclosure from Stuttgart of the arrest of the alleged spies. The announcement gave the name of only one defendant—Walter Kazmarek of Stuttgart—and quoted him as saying:

"It is clear we support the Soviet policy to the limit. A few of us in a small circle are more to them than a few divisions. When the east attacks, ministers will disappear in a hurry."

Price of Oranges Raised in Canada

OTTAWA, (CP)— The prices board announced Thursday night that effective immediately, the prices of oranges in Canada will be brought up to ceiling prices set by the United States Office of Price Administration, plus transportation charges and mark-ups.

A board announcement said the action was necessary to assure that Canada received an adequate supply of the fruit.

Confession Tells Of Urge to Kill

CALGARY, (CP)—Story of an irresistible urge to kill, how that urge resulted in the fatal stabbing of six-year old Donnie Goss, and how the killer calmly washed off the death knife and went to a movie, was unravelled in gruesome detail in police court Thursday as the signed confession of Donald Sherman Staley was read into the records at his preliminary hearing.

Staley, 29, arrested in Lethbridge jail where he was serving a term for breaking and entering, is charged with the murder of the Calgary boy and of Garry Billings, 11, Vancouver, both of whom he allegedly criminally assaulted. The preliminary hearing will be concluded Sept. 3.

Quit Cafe Job

Frank Saunders, Staley's former roommate in Calgary at the time of the Goss boy's murder, told how Staley quit his job cleaning chickens in a restaurant because it made him sick.

"I asked him what was wrong," Saunders said, "and he told me he couldn't handle anything dead because it reminded him of something."

The witness recalled Staley was somewhat nervous, but that he never actually mentioned the murder. . . "It was a series of things, the way he acted, his voice raised when he spoke of Donnie Goss. Ordinarily he spoke quite low." Saunders said he first saw the murder knife in Staley's possession in Vancouver.

Voluntary Confession

Det. Campbell of the Vancouver police force, who said Staley gave him a voluntary signed confession involving himself in the two murders, told the court Staley said he wanted to tell everything.

After giving certain evidence respecting his movements in Vancouver, Staley said, according to the witness, "when I got to Calgary I started to get the urge to do it again".

He feared the recurring urge to kill someone, Staley told the officers. Yet he knew he would be put away.

"I knew I would go on killing now that I had started," he said in his written statement.

He had less and less control over himself and finally—"I killed the little boy in Calgary," the statement said.

"I know I will go on killing every time I get the urge to do it," he was reported to have said. . . "I know it can't be stopped."

Taxation Changes Said Well in Hand

OTTAWA, (CP) — A bunch of taxpayers got Mr. Tax Collector himself — Revenue Minister McCann—on the witness stand Friday and made every minute and every memory count.

James Macdonnell (Prog. Cons., Muskoka-Ontario) took the first crack with a question about what was being done about a promised simplification and overhauling of the taxation machinery. The country was "longing" for it, he said.

Dr. McCann assured him that it was "well in hand." Although his department was purely administrative, he knew covering legislation was under review.

It was proposed to increase the number of regional offices from 19 to 32 but difficulties had been encountered in getting accommodation and proper personnel.

Max Campbell (C.C.F. The Battlefords) said North Battleford, would be a logical place for one of the new offices.

Frank Lennard (Prog. Cons., Wentworth) thought there was "nothing more antiquated" than the collection system for income taxes. No man should be penalized until he had been billed for a return.

When the department was three years behind in its assessments, it was "ridiculous" to penalize a man who several years back had failed, probably through no fault of his own, to make out a complete return.

At this juncture, Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent was invited to interpret the "penalty" view. He said a man was charged four percent interest from the time his return was due until 30 days after he had received notice of assessment. After that the rate was seven percent. That was the only penalty he could call to mind.

Replying to E. B. McKay (C.C.F., Weyburn), Dr. McCann said the income tax forms for 1946 would be substantially the same as for 1945.

Saskatoon to Get $290,000 Generator

REGINA, (CP)—The Saskatchewan power commission is installing a complete 15,000 kilowatt steam turbo-generator unit at a cost of $290,000 at the Saskatoon power plant, Resources Minister J. L. Phelps said Friday. Installation will be completed by December.

Russia Accuses Britain, U.S. Of 'Interfering' in Greek Vote

PARIS, (AP)—Russia accused the United States and Great Britain Friday of "interference" in next Sunday's Greek election and charged the little Balkan country was paving the way for the return of exiled King George II with "a reign of terror."

"We know British troops are there and American warships are on their way," Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia told the peace conference during consideration of a Greek request to consider the Greek-Albania border dispute.

Mr. Molotov asserted it was "high time we put a stop" to what he called outside interference and "give the Greek people a chance to select their own form of government." He contended that "the present form of government in Greece is very unpopular among the Greek people."

(Greece is the only Balkan country not strongly under the influence of Russia.)

Despite the bitter opposition of Russia and the Slav bloc, the peace conference voted 12 to 7 after four hours of blistering debate to discuss the Greek-Albanian border at its next meeting. The Greeks insist that a part of northern Epirus (southern Albania) now occupied by Albania actually is Greek territory.

State Secretary Byrnes of the United States during the debate declared:

"It seems incredible to me that we would deny one of the 21 governments that furnished troops to aid us in victory the opportunity to present its case—regardless as to our views on their claims. The United States had no conviction on the territorial dispute but the United States would give the right to every member to be heard."

Mr. Molotov responded that Russia was not opposing a discussion of the Greek-Albanian border by the council of foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France. He said the "French delegate had been right" in insisting that the matter did not come under the five draft treaties prepared for peace conference consideration.

British Support Claim by Soviet

PARIS, (CP)—Britain Friday supported Russia's claim to $100,000,000 reparations from Italy.

Britain's support came after a Canadian delegate, L. Dana Wilgress, suggested there should be a general discussion of the reparations and that no decision should be taken until the subcommittee on reparations had reported.

Andrei Vyshinsky, Russia, said this was another attempt to delay the work of the committee and deny Russia a claim which was "obviously just."

Denying that his proposal was designed to oppose the Soviet claim, Mr. Wilgress declared:

"Probably more than anyone in this room except the Soviet delegations, I know the damage they suffered and I am full of admiration for their efforts at reconstruction." (Mr. Wilgress is Canada's ambassador to Russia.'

Willard Thorp, United States, said the section of the article dealing with Soviet reparations was satisfactory to Russia and to other members of the foreign ministers' council and therefore must be supported.

Must Discover New Sources of Water

REGINA, (CP)—New sources of water supply must be found to those being "rapidly depleted" in Saskatchewan cities and towns, Resources Minister J. L. Phelps said Friday.

The minister called for co-operation in helping to discover new supplies of water and asked drilling operators to submit reports to the provincial government.

Soviet Won't Break Greek Relations

ATHENS, (AP)— Admiral K. K. Rodionov, Soviet ambassador to Greece, announced Thursday that the Soviet charge d'affaires in Greece would be first secretary G. Tchernossey. Rodionov thus indicated his departure for Moscow did not mean a break in Soviet-Greek relations.

Paying a farewell call at the Greek foreign ministry, Rodionov told the acting foreign minister, Stephanos Stephanopoulos, that his departure for the Soviet capital was "in execution of a mission."

Edmonton Schools To Open Tuesday

Edmonton public schools will open Tuesday as scheduled.

This was confirmed Friday by both the health and school board offices. It had been suggested the school opening might be delayed because of the occurrence of poliomyelitis in the city and province. Health officials Friday emphasized the outbreak had not reached proportions to require the closing of classrooms as a safety measure.

R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools, said the schools could only be closed by order of the health department of the city and he had received no such order.

Dr. E. A. Hay-Roe, acting city health officer, said Friday there was absolutely no reason why schools should not be open Tuesday. He said he had been in continuous contact with Dr. G. M. Little, medical health officer who is holidaying at Jasper, and Dr. A. Somerville, provincial director of communicable diseases. Dr. Little will return this week-end.

Dr. Hay-Roe said there had been only eight cases reported in Edmonton "and these were spread over the entire summer. The occurrence of the disease here is far from epidemic proportions and we see no reason why the health department should order the schools to remain closed."

City swimming pools, Dr. Hay-Roe said, would not be open Monday. The pools ordinarily would close Monday night for the season but will close Saturday evening. This was being done by order of the city commissioners on his recommendation, he added.

Britons Eye Western Canada As Crops Driven Into Ground

By Frank Swanson

LONDON.—Torrential rains and gales which lashed Britain's harvest fields Thursday virtually extinguished the last remaining hope that this year's domestic crop would be anything but a dismal failure.

With between 80 and 90 percent of the wheat cut, vast bulk is standing in sodden stooks and it is forecast by headquarters of the National Farmers' union here that if the present bad weather continues, the major part of the crop will be lost.

A spokesman of the farmer organization describes the situation as "very serious indeed," and referred to this year's crop as "the most battered of century."

It is calculated that the next 10 days will give the answer to the critical problem of the nation's harvest. If the weather takes a turn for the better, it will be possible to save a good share of the crop, but should bad weather continue wheat in stooks will start to rot.

In parts of Suffolk there has been a general deterioration during past weeks, both in quality and volume of the wheat crop. Where ground is low, whole fields are under water. In Surrey there has been virtually no harvesting progress in the last fortnight where almost daily rains have kept harvesters indoors.

Oxfordshire and Warwickshire also report no progress for two weeks. In Yorkshire, 90 percent of cutting is complete but stooks are water-soaked and fields are deserted as anxious farmers scan grey skies daily.

Agricultural correspondent of the Yorkshire Post Thursday, after a a comprehensive survey of harvesting prospects in that county, reported that fine weather was essential at once and that unless good weather returns for at least 10 days, the situation there will become "catastrophic."

Many fields of late wheat in all parts of the nation were flattened by tremendous gales that swept in off the English channel Thursday. Driving rain following drove crops into the ground.

Other grains than wheat have suffered as well. The barley crop this year, grown long and weak in straw, in many cases has been given up as a total failure. Many farmers are being forced to cut by hand in a last effort to salvage something from the ruined fields.

With domestic prospects anything but bright, Britons were turning their eyes to broad expanses of western Canadian wheat fields in hope that a good Canadian crop would get the country over what might otherwise be a wheatless year.

There appeared little likelihood of bread rationing being lifted for sometime, and that unless the Canadian crop lived up to advance expectations, rationing of bread could be expected to continue indefinitely.

Pay Halifax Claims Topping $6,450,000

OTTAWA, (CP)—The commons Thursday night passed budgetary estimates of $2,450,000 to cover claims arising out of the Halifax explosion and the V-E day riots last year. Acting Finance Minister Abbott said the amount was in addition to the more than $4,000,000 in claims provided for in last year's estimates.

Prime Minister Holds Paris "Operatic" Conference

In Paris for the peace conference, Prime Minister King is seen chatting with French Admiral Lemonnier (left), and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the British admiralty, in the foyer of the Paris Opera House.

Session of House Nearing Its End

OTTAWA, (CP) — The second session of Canada's 20th parliament seemingly was near its end Friday after 5½ months in the legislative saddle of the nation.

The clock in the big green commons chamber ground slightly beyond midnight Thursday before its members called it a day and went home to catch some sleep before resuming their seats at 10:00 a.m.

They were ready to sit from 10.00 until midnight daily until they finish their work but indications are that prorogation may come Saturday.

Members waded through the estimates of the fisheries department, completed those of the finance department and were knee-deep in those of the trade and commerce department when they quit for the night. The senate, meanwhile, cleaned off its slate in preparation for the formalities of a session's end.

Launching his department's estimates, Trade Minister Mackinnon said an expanded foreign trade service accounted for more than $1,000 000 in the appropriations. He reported "good headway" made in reopening trade offices abroad.

Joseph Burton (C.C.F., Humboldt) objected to export of canadian farm machinery and said Canadians should benefit first from internal production. Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) agreed with him.

F. E. Jaenicke(C.C.F. Kindersley) told the house a loan company had engaged in "certain questionable activities." Western farmers, many of foreign extractions, had taken shares in the company which had allowed them to stand despite depression, he said.

their failure to pay up during the

Then they had started to forfeit the shares. In 1945 alone, 23,124 shares with a par value of $2,321,400 had been forfeited although subscribers had paid a total of $159,151 into them.

Scores of farmers had had investments of some $1,800 and $2,000 wiped out.

Mr. Jaenicke urged that the company be "persuaded" to reinstate the shareholders and that, since it had no public liability, it should not be allowed to forfeit shares without permission of the government or a court.

Mr. Abbott said the sale of such shares was a matter of provincial jurisdiction.

Worked With Reds; U.S. Excludes Woman

PHILADELPHIA, (AP) — Exclusion of Hermina Rabinowitch from the United States was announced by the department of immigration and naturalization.

A spokesman said the native of Lithuania applied for citizenship April 5, while on a visit to the United States and it was determined at a hearing that she should be excluded.

"The actual reasons are considered confidential," he added.

Miss Rabinowitch was linked with the Canadian espionage trials when she testified that she received $10,000 from a Russian agent in New York and arranged for its transfer to Switzerland. At the time she was an employe of the International Labor Office in Montreal.

Plan Probe Costs Of B.C. Lumber

By Torchy Anderson

OTTAWA.— Complete review of the whole cost and price structure of the British Columbia lumber industry is now under way by the prices board, and a decision on the recent application of operators for an increase in price may be expected early this fall.

This was announced Friday by Donald Gordon, chairman of the board.

Mr. Gordon said a submission for upward revision of prices had been received about 10 days ago from one section of the industry in B.C.—the log buying mills but Mr. Gordon took the position that he could not deal with one section of the industry.

A questionnaire has been sent to the remaining two-thirds of the industry and is returnable in Ottawa by Sept. 4. After that the board will study the data collected. It is probable that Terrence Flahiff, timber controller, will make a personal investigation of the situation in B.C.

Lumber producers in B.C., who made an important contribution to the supply of Canada, claim that their costs have reached a point where they cannot sell under the present ceiling without serious loss. Their argument is that they cannot continue to load their export products to carry the domestic supply under present ceiling.

Finland urgently needs radio tubes.

Big 4 Reaffirm Earlier Decisions

PARIS, (CP)— The council of foreign ministers Thursday night decided to stick by its agreements already reached in peace treaty drafts and to support proposed changes to those agreements only if all the Big Four powers approved.

However, each still will have a free hand to vote as it pleases if the Big Four disagree on proposed amendments concerned with parts of the drafts on which they previously had not reached agreement. The treaty drafts submitted by the ministers to the peace conference contain sections on which the Big Four agreed and sections on which they disagreed.

The Big Four meeting was called by Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain in an effort to expedite the work of the 21-state peace conference.

The council instructed the deputy foreign ministers to begin a review of all amendments submitted by the 17 other powers and then adjourned until next week. The French informant said the ministers probably would get together again Monday.

Delegates of 21 countries took these actions Thursday:

The military commission adopted articles 39 and 40 of the Italian treaty providing for destruction or removal of permament Italian fortifications within 12½ miles of the French border.

The territorial and political commission for Finland approved the Big Four draft of the Finnish treaty preamble and 11 other articles. The articles confirm the concession of Petsamo to Russia and the Russian-Finish armistice agreement in which Russia renounces its lease on the Hango peninsula in return for a 50-year-lease for establishment of a Soviet naval base at Porkkala.

Discussion of article six in the Finnish treaty providing for guarantees of "fundamental freedoms" to all Finnish inhabitants was postponed.

Better Conditions Cut F.C.A.A. List

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—Applications for adjustments under the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement act, which now applies only to the prairie provinces, showed a considerable decrease last year, and a further reduction in their number is anticipated, Hon. Douglas Abbott, acting minister of finance, told the commons Thursday night.

Reduction in applications, said Mr. Abbott, was due to improved conditions in the western provinces and because of restrictions imposed under the amended act. The government was cutting in half the estimate of receiver's fee for the current year.

Robert Mayhew, parliamentary assistant to the finance minister, said the number of cases in 1944 in Manitoba was 43, in Saskatchewan 2,414 and in Alberta, 645, a total of 3,102.

Total brought to a conclusion by official receivers was 464. The number brought to a conclusion by county and district courts was 1,997. Cases yet to be dealt with numbered 691.

Appeals from judgments of courts numbered 404. A total of 197 appeals had been allowed, 117 had been disallowed and judgments pending or appeals yet to be heard totalled 90.

Flier is Remanded In Accident Case

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Flt. Lt. Paul Bissky of No. 2 Air Command, R.C.A.F. here, was remanded until Friday at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing of a charge of manslaughter against him. Seven witnesses testified.

The charge arose out of a collision between two cars July 31 in which FO. Donald Saidler, R.C.A.F., of Edmonton, and a passenger in an automibile said to have been driven by Bissky, suffered a fractured skull, and died later.

A coroner's jury inquiring into the collision returned a verdict saying that neither driver exercised proper precaution at the intersection.

Constitution Issue In Aussie Vote

CANBERRA, (CP)—The Australian people will decide by referendum Sept. 28 whether the constitution should be altered to give the federal parliament clear authority to maintain social services, establish peacetime control over marketing of primary products, and regulate conditions of employment on a national basis.

The vote on the proposed constitutional amendments will be given at the same time as Australian electors decide the fate of the Labor government, now led by Prime Minister Chifley, which has been in power since 1941 and seeks the additional authority at present within the field of the rights of the six Australian states.

Since confederation, polls on constitutional amendments have been held on nine occasions, but popular assent has been given only on matters concerning senate elections and the debts of the states.

A favorable majority among the six states as individual units as well as an over-all majority of the national electorate is required before constitutional proposals put to a referendum can become law.

The Liberal party recommends an overhaul of the constitution by a national convention which would examine it from start to finish in the light of present conditions. Both Liberals and the Country party, campaigning jointly in the election, have expressed opposition to the industrial section of the proposed amendment.

Won't Tell Trend Of Wheat Talks

OTTAWA, (CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon said Friday in the commons he felt it would be inadvisable for him to indicate the trend of conversations at the international wheat council conference in Washington.

Replying to John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, Mr. MacKinnon said the conference had been in session off and on for several years in an effort to bring forward definite recommendations to the various governments regulating internationally the price and supply of wheat.

Mr. Bracken asked what instructions the Canadian representatives had been given. He said Canada already had agreed to sell two-thirds of her wheat to the United Kingdom and now the representatives were in Washington participating in other wheat talks.

Mr. MacKinnon, who said Thursday that an international agreement would supersede that with the United Kingdom, stated the wheat committee of the cabinet was in Washington. The progress made at the conference was reported and suggestions offered.

He felt it would be inadvisable for him to say any more.

Hopes Are Rising For Chinese Peace

PEIPING, (AP) — Government troops were reported today to have captured Chenkteh, capital of Jehol province, without opposition, as peace hopes rose anew over the formation of a five-man committee to tackle China's unending strife at its source—politics.

The anti-Communist Roman Catholic newspaper Social Welfare predicted the Communists also would not defend Chihfeng, north of Chengteh.

To the west, government troops were reported pushing on Kalgan, the Communist "second capital," in Chahar province.

Peace hopes centred on Nanking, where an "unofficial" committee of two Communist, two government representatives and United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, who proposed the idea, was formed to tackle the Chinese problem from the political side.

Gen. Marshall, who was not listed as a participant on the committee, many weeks ago suggested that this approach seemed the only one remaining.

Large Extension For Army Planned

CALGARY, (CP) — Approval was given to the department of national defence's application to purchase 103 acres of city-owned land just east of the Currie barracks, as a site for a big addition to the permanent force army establishment, when the city lands committee met Thursday.

It was recommended to city council that the city commissioners negotiate for the sale of the property to the defence department at its offer of $5,000 plus the huts at the Mewata barracks when they are declared surplus. The huts will be used for emergency housing and for parks purposes.

Say Vitamin B-1 Aids Childbirth

NEW YORK, (CP) — The New York Times said Friday in a Moscow dispatch that vitamin B-1 has been used successfully in "painless" childbirth.

Tests at the Central Institute of Obstetrics and Gynecology using the vitamin provided 40 percent "altogether painless" births out of 1,000, the newspaper said it was reported by Prof. Rafael Shub of Leningrad while in 51.2 percent of the remaining cases "protracted alleviation" of pain was obtained.

Planning Revoke Man's Citizenship

WINNIPEG, (CP)—The revocation commission hearing applications of the secretary of state to cancel naturalization certificates announced it would recommend that the naturalization of William G. Anderson, 32, of Winnipeg, be revoked. Anderson, a native of Wisconsin, a minister of the Jehovah Witness sect and a conscientious objector, refused to bear arms in the Second Great War.

Liner Queen Mary Is Carrying 1,692

HALIFAX, (CP) — The liner Queen Mary will break a record when she arrives here Saturday, shipping officials said. She will have a total of 1,692 dependents of Canadian servicemen, the largest number ever carried across the Atlantic in a single ship in peacetime. Among the passengers is Prime Minister King, on his way home from the Paris peace conference.

Three Meet Death In Torch Explosion

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (AP)—Three workers were killed Thursday in the explosion of an acetylene torch at the big plant of the Trumbull Asphalt Co. of Delaware in North Memphis.

The explosion tore the bodies to bits, and first reprots said at least five persons were killed. However, Nelson Dale, an operator, said a thorough check of time-cards indicated only the three men—all working with the torch—were killed.

They were T. H. Wolfe, about 35; Howard Wolfe, about 16; and Henry Gleece, about 50.

Appoint Court to Assess Australian Basic Wages

CANBERRA, (CP)—The Australian government has appointed a committee of employers and employes to investigate the method by which the commonwealth arbitration court assesses the basic wage of industry and to recommend whether there should be any changes.

This basic wage represents the minimum weekly wage on which an unskilled workman, his wife and two young children can live. It varies according to area of employment.

The arbitration court assesses it on the capacity of industry to pay and, every three months after assessment, it is adjusted in accordance with costs of living as shown in the official indices. The wage then obtained is written into federal and state industrial awards.

Employers' and employes' organizations, newspapers and politicians of all shades of opinion lately have criticized this method of computation on the ground the items taken into account to determine the cost of living, which include food, rent, clothing, and fuel, are not a true reflection of the cost of living.

In addition, they say the wage does not recognize the high rate of taxation in Australia which, together with the incomplete and conservatively-priced cost of living items, gives the basic wage a purchasing power which is far below that intended

These critics advocate an increase of at least $4 a week on the present metropolitan basic wage rate of $16 to bring it in line with what they regard as true costs of living, and raise purchasing power.

Anemia Treated With Folic Acid

By Thomas R. Henry

WASHINGTON, (NANA)—Folic acid, latest of the vitamin B complex group to be synthesized by chemists, apparently has remarkable properties in the treatment both of pernicious anemia, common in temperate countries, and of the somewhat related Sprue, one of the scourges of the tropics.

Sprue is a type of anemia especially likley to afflict Canadians and Americans who go to equatorial lands and usually requires that they return home at once. The cause is unknown. Cases occur very rarely in North America.

The value of folic acid as a remedy for this malady has been demonstrated in a co-operative study conducted by the University of Cincinnati and the School of Tropical Medicine at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Until very recently the material has been difficult to obtain. There are minute amounts in liver and in a few vegetables, especially spinach. Extraction has been laborious and expensive, and the supply has been so small that it has been difficult to determine the real role of the vitamin.

Apparently it is vital for blood stability. The fact that so little of it is normally available in foods leads to the hypothesis that it must be synthesized in some way in the human intestines.

The tests reported by Dr. T. D. Spies of the University of Cincinnati were all made with Puerto Rican sprue victims. Says Dr. Spies: "Following the oral administration of folic acid, the improvement of the patients was so striking that all observers noticed the third or fourth day an increase in their well-being, strength and vigor. The patients who had been unwilling to eat now ate everything on their trays and requested more. There was an increase in the number of red blood cells and hemoglobin.

"These findings demonstrate clearly that folic acid produces beneficial effects in persons with tropical sprue," he said.

Sees More Returns On Canadian Wheat

OTTAWA, (CP) — Trade Minister MacKinnon told the commons that any agreement arising out of forthcoming international wheat conferences would bring "much greater returns" to Canadian wheat producers than the newly-signed agreement with the United Kingdom.

He told John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, Canadian policy would have to be laid down in the light of the conferences which now were in an exploratory and preparatory stage. An international agreement would supercede that with Britain.

Mr. MacKinnon said Russia had not found it possible to attend the preparatory conferences at Washington.

Want U.N. Parley Held as Scheduled

PARIS, (CP) — The Canadian delegation at the peace conference supports the view that the general assembly of the United Nations should meet in New York Sept. 23 as scheduled, with the peace parley continuing.

However, the Canadians feel the U.N. meeting should be limited to some extent considering that the Paris talks would be taking the attention of most senior statesmen. The budget has to be passed and some administrative matters settled, but the Canadians hope not too many political questions will be raised at the assembly.

Warns Railroads At Breaking Point

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON, — The United States is suddenly finding that its railway system overloaded by the unexpected abundance of peace is nearer to breakdown today than it was at any time during the war.

James M. Johnson director of the office of defense transportation, underlined the gravity of the situation with a warning that "the impending transportation crisis will compel some factories to shut or curtail operations this fall and winter."

He said the railways "simply cannot" handle all the traffic in prospect for them in the months ahead and "the railroads still will be moving this year's wheat crop when the next crop ripens."

The reason is that the railroads of the United States are at present trying to handle more traffic than they did at their wartime peak when heroic war-inspired efforts of railroad men brought about a miracle of bulk freight-handling. With their present inadequate rolling stock the rail lines are falling steadily back.

Give Scholarship For Cancer Study

TORONTO, (CP)—Post-graduate scholarships each worth approximately $10,000 for the study in Canada, Britain, France and Sweden of treatment of cancer have been awarded to four young Canadian doctors recently returned from war service, it was announced here Thursday by Harold A. Smith of Hamilton, national chairman of the Association of Kinsmen's clubs.

Awards were made by a selection committee chosen by the Canadian Cancer society. The course is expected to take three years. In Canada the doctors will study at the Saskatchewan cancer centre at Regina, The Royal Victoria hospital at Montreal, and the Toronto General hospital.

MUCH WHEAT VIA BAY

WINNIPEG, (CP) — George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian Wheat board, said Thursday that 1,648,000 bushels of wheat had been shipped out of Churchill, Man., on five ships so far this year. A sixth was loading about 250,000 additional bushels.

Fascist Weekly On Sale in Rome

ROME, (ONA)—Roman newsstands, already flooded with a multitude of rabidly nationalistic periodicals,have displayed for the first time on a major scale a weekly newspaper called Manifesto, which is published in Bari and the editorial policy of which is more outspokenly pro-Fascist than any other publication now on sale here.

Its leading article in the issue now being circulated here is entitled "Passo Romano," the Fascist equivalent of the German goose-step, in which the editors assure the readers that Fascism actually is nothing but the real ultimate expression of patriotism and ask:

"Were we wrong? Yes, perhaps we were wrong in losing the war, but if we had won who would have dared say we made an error in starting?"

The paper, the Roman circulation of which has not been divulged but which is sold at all the major newstands, also advocates a new campaign for a greater Italy and an Italian empire, declaring:

"In 1915, when demonstrations for intervention culminated in a declaration of war, there was no Fascism in Italy. Then, without Fascism, there were people who believed in empire, in the greatness of Italy. And if this happened in 1915, we do not see why it should not happen in 1946."

U.S. Increases Livestock Prices

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Anderson directed the Office of Price Administration to establish ceilings on livestock calling for increases of $1.40 a hundred pounds on hogs and $2.25 for cattle, Chicago basis, over the limits in effect June 30.

Officials estimated these increases would raise retail prices of pork 2.5 to three cents a pound and beef about six cents.

Recreation Week

Edmonton's Recreation Week begins next Sunday and will be devoted to an extensive and varied display of the many useful pursuits, athletic and cultural, with which Edmonton people may occupy their leisure time.

All residents of this community should take a part in some phase of this week's many activities. For the program has been arranged to provide something for every taste. It is calculated not only to entertain but to show what can be accomplished by a systematic cultivation of local talent.

It cannot be denied that the Recreation Commission has done wonders in its comparatively short term of life, building on and coordinating the activities already begun by such excellent organizations as the Allied Arts Council and many others.

All this work is commendable for, as has been said so many times before, the proper occupation of leisure hours is quite as important to life and character as the proper employment of working hours.

This is what the people of Edmonton are asked, through Recreation Week, to realize. This is the kind of movement they are asked to support.

But it will be apparent to everyone that such activities cannot be carried out without continuous and intelligent control and without an adequate sum of money. The provision of playgrounds and parks and the equipment and means for the practice of handicrafts and scores of other interesting and useful pursuits should not be left to chance.

The entire program, not only for this year but for years to come, should be coordinated under some responsible body with sufficient funds to plan expansions far in advance.

In short, the time has come when Edmonton, following the example of other Canadian cities, should add to its civic governing bodies an elected parks board with a certain mill rate allocated to its purposes from taxation.

Without such an organization, the recreation movement will be scattered and sporadic — with the best intentions in the world.

With such an organization to control and direct it, the recreation movement will expand steadily to confer untold benefits upon Edmonton children for all time to come.

Mr. Justice Ewing

The death of Mr. Justice A.F. Ewing at the age of 75 closes a notable career, legal, political and juridical, which has been of value and interest to the province of Alberta.

A member of the legislature for eight years, he was appointed to the trial division of the supreme court in 1931 and raised to the appellate division ten years later. His resignation from the bench was submitted only a few days ago and had not been accepted at the time of his death.

He was a capable lawyer and an excellent judge and his presence on the appeal court bench will be missed.

It is sometimes difficult to imagine the profound importance of the judicial function in the British social and economic system. Our civilization is based primarily on a deep respect for contractual obligations, that is to say for the moral responsibility each man bears towards every other.

We have an admirable code of laws to express and enforce this manifestation of the civilized conscience. But most of our laws, purposely perhaps, are so loosely framed that their force lies in the interpretation rather than in the letter of them.

That is why a judge of any rank is so vital to the maintenance and virility of our social order. For upon his personal judgment and personal convictions and personal character must rest at last the application of the ethical impulse to the mundane affairs of men.

A good judge is one of the pillars of our civilization. A bad judge can be a nucleus for civilization's rot.

Canada is eminently fortunate in her judges. The genius of the race seems to have presided over the selection of almost every one of them.

Mr. Justice Ewing will take his place among those who have diligently and capably maintained the character of our civilization.

A Distinguished Visitor

Since the founding of the see of Canterbury by St. Augustine in the year 597, there have been 100 archbishops bearing that historic title. It has been the lot of the 100th to visit North America while in office.

His Grace the Most Reverend and Right Honorable Geoffrey Francis Fisher, MA, DCL, DD, Primate of All England, is now in Canada to attend the general synod of the Anglican Church, which opens in Winnipeg on September 4, and afterwards to attend the general convention of the Episcopal Church in Philadelphia.

The Archbishop is visiting Halifax, Quebec, Ottawa and Toronto as well as Winnipeg. He is preaching and speaking in most of these places.

Of interest to the church-going people of Edmonton is the fact that he will broadcast to all Canada from Winnipeg on Thursday, September 5, at 3:30 p.m. Edmonton time. His address will be carried locally by radio station CKUA.

This is something that should be heard by Canadians of all creeds and all communions — and by those not in formal communion with any Church. For he will speak, not as a great Anglican, but as a great Christian figure with a message for everyone in these troubled times when the Christian Faith offers the only solution to most of the difficulties which confront the tormented world.

A Delicate Dilemma

In the earlier days of the war, when the city's workers of all grades were marching off to battle, it naturally created a necessity for replacing them by temporary workers who would hold down the jobs until their former holders came back. And these latter must have clearly understood the terms of their engagement, which were only right and proper. If, as was tragically inevitable, some of them should not come home or others, when they did, had decided on some other means of livelihood, then would be time enough to decide who of the temporary workers to retain; with perhaps some thought to whether B ought to be permanently employed simply because he was covering off the vacancy left by A or whether C, a better worker, ought to be permanently employed, and B let go.

The resolution which the aldermen passed in such a fine frenzy of patriotism when the war was young now begins to appear to have its complexities when it comes to implementing it.

The spirit of that resolution appears to have been that not only men engaged to replace city employees absent at the war but others as well should be let go when the war should end so as to give preferred permanent employment to the whole body of returning veterans.

Probably no one, not even those likely to be affected, will complain at the intention implied in the resolution. But now come representations from the heads of departments for exceptions to be made in the cases of workers who, during those years, have acquired such skill at their tasks as to be more or less indispensable. It is an old story. Even in the forces during the war a commanding officer or head of a branch often had to plead that some skilled tradesman should not be swept up in the reinforcement stream. The solution usually required tact. Also close investigation, for an officer was not always insensible to stories of sick wives or dependent aunts.

According to the city commissioners, 157 vacancies will be the result and the civic corporation would indeed be open to censure did it not honor the principle of veteran preference. But presumably there will be, conversely, 157 city workers thrown out of employment for the time being, the majority of whom, let it be assumed, would be veterans today but for some physical or other disability. If the city cannot ignore (as it cannot) the claim of veterans to employment, whether at their old jobs or whether their claim to preference is simply as veterans, neither can the city ignore the impending plight of 157 men about to be thrown into the street.

An Immigration Policy

BY HELEN GRAY

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Canada needs lumbermen to cut logs; farm labor so that next year's sugar beet crop will not be just half harvested; men for factories and service industries.

The people of Canada are aware of this need. This year for the first time the Canadian Congress of Labor has come out for immigration.

It is an economic question. An active and vigorous policy of immigration would put money in all our pockets and would greatly increase the national income.

* * *

CANADA WANTS IT. Europeans who through the war have learned to know of Canada, are clamoring to come here. But these will turn instead to other countries if our government does not revise its archaic position.

Added to the lack of immigration the population is being steadily depleted by emigration to the United States.

The argument during the war and during this current year has been that there is no available shipping space. This situation officials expect, will be eased in 1947. In addition, many ships which could very well have been converted for such a purpose have been sold by War Assets.

Statisticians show that without immigration our country will have an almost static population for, at the present time, births do not sufficiently outweigh deaths and emigration. Against this is the opinion of some that Canada could handle a population of between 25 and 50 millions with a corresponding steady increase in the standard or living.

For industry to come, there must be markets and labor as well as resources. Immigration will augment the domestic market and bring about an influx of capital. Bringing in new peoples would not take up available jobs as much as it would create new ones.

* * *

NOT 10 PER CENT of returned soldiers wish to settle on the land. Immigration would counterbalance the shortage of farm labor and, as well, open new territories in the empty northwest. Furthermore, a greater population in the west entering into industry would create a more suitable balance between industry and agriculture, and between the west and the east.

Canada emerged from this last war a creditor nation. To play her role as such it is her duty to maintain a high level of employment so that she can import as much as possible from her debtors.

New settlers would create this much needed larger market. Nor should these mainly be farmers or unskilled laborers. It is estimated that one fifth of the world's known coal supply lies in Alberta; power is cheap in the prairie provinces—and there are abundant resources of all kinds from coast to coast.

This means many highly skilled workers could be incorporated in an expansion of heavy industry.

Lying idle are 27 million acres of good farm lands. There is more railway mileage per capita in this country than any other—built in the first place in expectation of a large population and often a burden because it is spread over too few taxpayers. The development of our highway system is retarded by the same condition.

But if we would approach, as we could through heavier population, an optimum development of lands and resources, we should gradually enjoy the benefits of a much augmented national income carrying with it decreased taxation.

With vision and initiative Canada can become a great nation. But this she can never do so long as her population lies static around the twelve million mark.

Today in Europe

By Randolph Churchill

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON- Almost the only agreement reached without prolonged bickering by the Big Four foreign ministers prior to the Paris peace conference was that Italy retain the Southern Tyrol. Yet no decision after the first World War was so much criticized.

CHURCHILL

The fact that this agreement was reached and may be ratified by the Paris conference is deeply disturbing to all who wish to see a just and permanent settlement. Though the Foreign ministers were able to agree, the issue is far from being dead.

The Tyrolese have always been an independent minded people, prepared to fight for their liberty. During the 600 years they formed a part of the Austrian Empire, they enjoyed a considerable degree of autonomy. Four years after Napoleon's harsh Treaty of Presburg in 1805, which seperated the Tyrol from Austria and placed it under Bavaria, they rose in revolt. That rising was crushed, and they had to wait until the downfall of Napoleon before they returned to the Austrian Empire.

* * *

BY THE SECRET TREATY of London in 1915, Italy was promised the Southern Tyrol as part of her price for entry into the war on the side of the Allies. That treaty, made under the duress of war, has since been denounced as one of the most flagrant transgressions of the principle of self-determination. But as a result of it, Italy came into the war, and the agreement was subsequently ratified by the Treaty of St. Germain in 1919.

The cession of the Southern Tyrol to Italy, without the slightest regard for the wishes of its inhabitants, was directly opposed to the principle of self-determination which the Versailles peace conference accepted as a guiding rule. Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Wilson were all opposed to the transfer, but Orlando, the Italian representative claimed his pound of flesh.

The subsequent "Italianization" of the Tyrol was carried out by Mussolini in the most savage manner. Italian became the language, and Italian officials were appointed to all key positions. Compulsory sales of land to Italians were authorized and the immigration of Italians into the Tyrol was organized on a large scale. The names of towns and villages were changed Sterzing becoming Vipiteno, and Bozen becoming Bolzano. Even inscriptions on tombstones were changed, German being replaced by Italian. Every effort was made by the Fascists to swamp the Tyrolese and destroy their culture.

* * *

THEN CAME the Berlin pact of 1939. By this, typical of all totalitarian agreements in its cynicism, the Tyrolese were given the choice of German or Italian citizenship. If they chose the former, they became liable to expulsion from their home into Germany, but by an overwhelming majority, they took that risk rather than accept Italian nationality. They voted to become Germans, but they refused to move. That Hitler took no steps to enforce their transfer to Germany was resented by Mussolini. He had been double-crossed and had failed in his efforts to dispose of a hostile minority.

Economically, Austria is in far greater need of the Tyrol than is Italy. The most debatable economic point is the question of power stations built by Mussolini. But the Austrians are prepared to grant Italy rights of output in these plants, and have proposed that the plants be internationally controlled for the benefit of Central Europe as a whole, under what has been described as an Alpine TVA.

Far more important is that the fate of 300,000 Austrians is involved in this dispute. The issue may well become the touchstone by which may be decided whether the 21 nations meeting in Paris can override the narrow expediency which marked the deliberations of the Big Four, and insist that Europe be rebuilt on principles of justice, rather than of disreputable deals animated by power politics.

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

AFU IN POLITICS

Editor, Bulletin—Although it has been stated by more than one newspaper that a farmer's strike is an impossibility, I do not hold that opinion. It is quite possible, and in the present state of the world, together with false economic theories, it is quite imminent; and the results could only be disastrous, not only to the ordinary members of society, but to the farmers.

To most discerning people the fact is plainer every day that there is a sinister purpose behind the campaign to wreck the productivity of our industries. It is now threatening to spread to the farmers, although they are enjoying the most satisfactory prices, except of 1916-18, in thirty years.

There is a political movement in Canada whose strategy is directed at forcing a change in the framework of economic life, the purpose being to compel government ownership as the only solution to continued production. Individuals of this movement have obtained key positions in farm organisations and labor unions and are endeavouring to drive these bodies along the destructive trail called by them a "dictorship of the majority" which leads to totalitarianism.

The infiltration of individuals of the CCF school into key positions in the AFU, had become so strong in 1945 that it was impossible, in my opinion, for that union to remain a non-partizan body, and I felt obliged to warn the membership that the union was being led into party politics.

Their present threatened strike action will, if carried to consummation, engender hardship and strife and is not even agreed to by other bodies of organised farmers.

Instead of advancing the policy as presented in their action program, and which has been endorsed by two annual conventions, the executive have put out a strike ballot containing proposals which are contradictory and have not been endorsed by an annual convention. They are asking for parity prices and at the same time want a stated fixed price for wheat for five years. Such a proposal throws aside the whole principle of parity prices.

It is evident some individuals are trying to get the AFU to support the political aims of the CCF and bring about State farms in a similar manner to those labor unions which are trying to force the nationalization of industry by continued strikes.

If the AFU is to be consistent, it can only make demands in line with the principle of parity prices: and in this instance the executive are leading the membership astray.

'WE FORGET'

Editor, Bulletin—"Freedom is the sure possession of those alone who have the courage to defend it"—Pericles.

But not so in Canada. Canada the good, the forgiving, the forgetful. I don't understand politics. They say politics is for the politician, but somewhere along the line, politics or politicians went wrong, drastically wrong... we pardoned deserters.

Only a year ago the war ended. This is our first anniversary of peace. Do we solemnize it by thanking God, by ceremonies for the boys that made the peace possible, the boys that were there to back the attack? No, instead we insult them by pardoning deserters. Many men died because reinforcements were "too little ...too late." But deserters now can enjoy the freedom they didn't defend.

Those responsible for this should hang their heads in shame.

So let us not be hypocrites, and let us abolish Remembrance Day ... the poppies. Let us forget about the war, our victorious forces ... and the war dead.

We really forgot them on August 15, 1946.

The Road Ahead

By HARPER PROWSE, MLA

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

For reasons difficult to discover there has been a trend recently for people to disregard laws inconvenient to them. And the most serious aspect of this is that the governments of this country, both provincial and dominion seem to have been reluctant to do anything about it. In fact they have by their actions, actually condoned breaches of the law. If this trend continues then we are going to wind up in a lawless state where force replaces law as the supreme arbiter of our rights and privileges.

PROWSE

I have in mind the action, or lack of action, of the appropriate authorities in labor disputes which have marred the smooth surface of our economic, social and political life during the past year. Practically without exception these strikes have been illegal. Special wartime regulations, which are still in effect, have pegged wages and certain other working conditions, and have set up machinery and procedures by which disputes are to be settled without work stoppages.

Some of labor's leaders believe these laws to be bad laws with the result that they have ignored them-thus their actions are illegal. And I fail to see the difference between an illegal act committted by a group of workers and an illegal act committed by anyone else.

* * *

IF LABOR'S LEADERS think those laws are bad they have the duty as well as the right to demand that those laws be changed. But they have not the right to disregard them. When they do this they put themselves above the law and beyond the law. Yet practically every one of the rights of which labor is so jealous is guaranteed to them by law, and if they are going to disregard a law they don't like, they weaken the power of the law to give them the protection which is so important to them.

Whether labor's complaints and demands are justified has nothing to do with this. There are always two sides to every question and the government has set up machinery to permit labor to air its grievances and demands before an impartial tribunal which will hear both sides and will make a ruling it considers in the best interests of all concerned and the country as a whole.

Yet the authorities whose duty it is to enforce the laws have permitted breach after breach to pass unnoticed with the result that these particular laws have become not only worthless and ineffective, but threaten to destroy all our respect for law. In this the authorities are just as much to blame as those who break the law because they have failed in their duty. And government must also share the blame because they have condoned the inaction of the law enforcement authorities as well as the actions of those who have disregarded the law. We are travelling along a dangerous and vicious road which can lead only to chaos and injustice.

Colorful Festival Displays Planned

One of the highlights of the forthcoming folk festival to be held in Clarke Stadium, Sunday, Sep. 2, will be a number of colorful booth displays, representing many European countries. As was the case last year, those booths will present a variety of national dishes of each community. The booths will be operated by women of each organization or club. Organizations to be represented are the Vasa Lodge Auxiliary. The Greek Canadian Ladies' Society, the Council of Jewish Women, Association of Ukrainian Canadians and the Polish Women of Edmonton.

THE FEATURE attraction to be presented at the Edmonton Federaton of Community Leagues' program, Sept. 4 will be the Musical Ride and other acts which Mrs. William Greevs and the pupils of the Briarcrest Riding Sshool have offered to display. This display won wide acclaim at the Spring Horse Show held in Edmonton this year.

Twenty-six horses and riders take part in the musical ride. An act will be put on including four shetland ponies which is certain to win the applause of the crowd. Another feature of the Horse Show will be an old time dance with six horses taking part. In these acts, even very youthful riders are included, some being only four years old.

THE BOYS' SOAP BOX derby will start off the program at 6:30 p.m., folloled by selections from the Canadian Legion brass band, which will also accompany the Briarcrest Musical Ride. A model display by Don Miller with his gas engine models will also be an interesting item on the program. The program also includes folk dancing, tumbling, roller skating, a physical training display by the Ukrainian Canadian Association, and community singing.

Many Tire Thefts Reported to Police

Motorists are advised by Detective Inspector Bert Petheram of the city police force to use extra care in securing spare tires for their vehicles as numerous reports continue to pour in to the detective office of such articles being stolen.

The inspector said that the shortage of tires is resulting in the number of thefts. As a special warning to truck drivers he points out the danger of leaving extra tires lying in the boxes of parked vehicles. Wherever possible spare tires should be locked to the trucks and automobiles.

Butter Coupons Soon to Expire

Edmonton citizens holding butter coupons up to and including R-17 and meat coupons from M-40 to M-50 are advised to make use of them before the week end. According to an announcement from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the above mentioned coupons are due to expire Aug. 31. Special "Q" coupons will continue to be used for meat, until the issue of the new ration books, Sept. 9. Meat coupon Q-3 becomes valid at the first of next week.

HOUSE DAMAGED

Frank Pr' r, 10313 93 street, reports that twice during the past week a house under construction at 9733 105 street has been damaged by breaking windows and by destructing of interior parts. Also one pipe wrench is missing from premises.

Provincial Govt. Won't Back AFU

Support of the provincial government in the cause of the Alberta Farmers' Union, currently threatening strike action unless the federal government sets up a fact finding board to determine parity prices, was sought unsuccessfully Wednesday by A. D. Olsen, Homeglen, an executive member of the AFU board of directors. Approached with a view to having him call a meeting of agricultural representatives for the purpose of "clarifying" the AFU's strike demands O. S. Longman, deputy-minister of agriculture declined representation or participation of his department, observing that the AFU delegation was now in Ottawa to present their grievances to the federal department of agriculture.

Cardinals Beat Eskimos 6 - 2 For One - Game Lead in Series

BIG NIGHT—Inclusion of Al Superstein as a replacement in the Cardinal lineup certainly did no harm to the Card cause Thursday night. All the ex-Cub centre-fielder accomplished was to slap out two singles in two official trips to the plate, score three runs and steal four bases. In addition Al found time to toss in a sacrifice, collect three putouts and pick up a base on balls.

Army and Navy Cardinals took another stride toward the Edmonton senior baseball title when they won 6-2 over New Edmonton Eskimos at Renfrew Park Thursday night and they now hold a two to one edge in the best of seven final series.

Next game will be played Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with another at 2:30 on Labor Day, and, if necessary, a second on Monday at 5:30.

IN CURBING the Eskimos urge for base knocks, George Kemp duplicated his opening performance in the series by allowing only four singles and all were well distributed.

Kemp was in trouble four times, but with the exception of the eighth inning when two of the five bases on balls he issued came together and ahead of Gino Valenti's single, he always escaped without damage.

CARDINALS GOT to Connie Thomson for only six hits, all singletons barring the successive drives into centre by Harry Ornest and Emil Peroni after Bob Arieta walked in the seventh, and which, tallied two of their three earned runs.

Al Superstein, acquired from Cubs as a replacement, scored the first Cardinal run, dropping a single into right field, stealing both second and third and coming in on an error at third on Ornest's ground ball. Ornest crossed the plate on Peroni's flyout after stealing second and going to third on a passed ball.

ERRORS AT FIRST and third with nobody down, put two Eskimos on in the fifth, and a sacrifice by Thomson advanced both runners. A double play snuffed out the rally when McGill took Flores foul and whipped the ball to Galvin at second, catching Stevenson off the bag.

With one away in the eighth, Kemp walked both Flores and Culver. Tedeschi flied to Ornest, but Valenti came through in the clutch scoring both runners.

Last night's was Cardinal manager Johnny Galvin's final game for the year. Galvin left last night for Purdue University to report for pre-term football drill.

English Soccer Resumes Saturday

LONDON, Aug. 30—(CP cable)—More than 3,000,000 fans are expected to witness the return of pre-war soccer to England when 88 teams come to grips this week-end in leagues reorganized on a pre-1939 basis.

Though professional soccer continued throughout the war years, it was largely on a regional basis. From Saturday on, however, with resumption of full-time league programs after a seven-year lapse, the old cut-throat rivalry will return as teams battle for promotion in division and league lineups, with the football association cup the ultimate goal.

SCOTTISH SOCCER has been in operation three weeks and Saturday the Scottish A and B division will be playing their seventh and fourth matches respectively.

The revived English league has three divisions. The first two each has 22 teams. The heavier third division with 44 teams is sub-divided into two equal sections called third north and third south. Every team will play every other team in its own division twice.

Bears Now Leading Calgary Play-Off

CALGARY, Aug 30 - (CP) -Calgary Bears, bunching their meagre quota of hits to make them count, Thursday night moved out in front in the best-of-seven final for the Foothills Baseball League championship by defeating Purity 99 3-2 before 2,000 fans at Buffalo stadium.

Victory gave Bears a 2-1 edge in the series which will be continued with single games Friday and Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday.

On the score sheet, Bears had fewer hits and more errors than Purity but they came through in the clutches. The oilmen left 12 runners on the sacks, while only one Bear runner was left on the bases.

Saskatoon on Top

SASKATOON, Aug. 30 -(CP)- Saskatoon Empire Jacks took a one-game lead in the best-of-three Western Canada Men's Fastball semi-finals here Thursday night when they defeated Vancouver Girodays 4-2.

The teams meet again today and if a third game is necessary it will be played Saturday.

Majors or Nothing For Hank Greenberg

BOSTON, Aug. 30-(AP)-Hank Greenberg, Detroit Tigers' first baseman, Thursday spiked frequent reports that he would retire after this season, but asserted that it was the "big leagues or nothing."

"If the Tigers want me to play next year I'll be happy to play in Detroit," he said. "But I'll tell you this, I'll not play in St. Paul, Kansas City or any Minor league town. It's the big leagues or nothing for me."

The sewing machine was invented in ancient Rome, re-invented in England in 1795 and in France 25 years later.

St. Vitals Carry Manitoba Hopes

When the western Canada senior girls' fastball tournament gets under way at Clarke Stadium here on Labor Day, the St. Vital Tigerettes of Winnipeg will be carrying the colors of Manitoba.

Coming here for the big affair to be played under floodlights marks a climax in the plans of Coach Roy Dillon of the Manitoba champs. Three years ago his squad finished third and last year his girls wound up in second position in the Winnipeg league. Now this year his St. Vitals upset the dope bucket in the 'Peg by knocking out St. Boniface Athletics, who carried the Manitoba colors to the western tourney held at Saskatoon last year. Dillon is assisted in his coaching duties by Don Key.

THE TIGERETTES boast of a squad of versatile players who are at home in a variety of positions. For instance, their catcher, Eleanor Callow, although usually behind the plate, takes a turn frequently at first base or third. To further emphasize her importance to the team, it is known that she held the batting title of the Winnipeg league for 1946. Elsa Lott is the second catcher of the club.

The pitching staff, never feared greatly during the regular schedule, suddenly boomed into the spotlight in the finals and now Winnipeg hails the power of Jean Fennell, Kay Ellis and Eileen Capar. Miss Capar particularly carried the Tigerettes in their closing struggles to oust the Athletics from the top rung.

THE INFIELD is composed of Joan Henderson at first, redhead Winnie Flynn at second, redhead Beulah Haake at shortstop, and Captain Doris Riley takes care of third. Those two "reds" around the keystonesack are reputed to be a tight defence. At short field, Janet Beckwith is praised for her throwing arm and powerful bat.

In the outfield Audrey Freeman ex-Wren, Joyce Merces, Bernice Jacquet, Evelyn Halsall and Bernice Hasp do the duties.

SPORTS BULLETIN

REPEATS: Bob Kidd, young Edmonton shotmaker, Thursday won the city junior golf championship for the second straight year when he led home a field of 17 in the 36-hole competition played at the Highlands. Bob was just one over par on his first 18 and wound up with 151. Doug Campbell was runner-up with 163.

Bob Kidd Again Wins City Junior Golf Title

Bob Kidd, promising young shotmaker, made a successful defence of his city junior golf championship on Thursday when he again won the local event, played this year at the Highlands course.

Kidd fired a one over par 73, an outstanding score for a junior, for the first 18 holes and then came back in the afternoon to card a 78 for a 36-hole total of 151, just seven over regulation figures.

KIDD'S 151 WAS 11 strokes better than the closest score of 163, which was posted by Doug Campbell and 12 under Bud Loftus who finished third with 164. Seventeen young golfers competed.

Low net score in this annual event was registered by Jim Harper who shot a 166 and was allowed a 20 stroke handicap for the 35 holes, making his count 146.

IN FIRING his sizzling round of 73, Kidd had trouble in settling down but then made a nice comeback. He went four over par on the first six holes, but birdied the next two and parred the ninth to come down to just two over par 35 at the end of the first nine.

Bob went over par on two holes on the last nine of the morning round, but slashed the regulation figures on three other holes.

The champ had a tougher job on his hands for the second 18 and ran into trouble on more than one occasion. He only birdied two holes and on a couple of fairways he had difficulty and went two over par on each. In addition to the two birdies, however, he parred 11 of the final round.

Kidd's cards:

First round:
Par out	443	543	444—35
Kidd Out	464	544	334—37

St. Louis Increases Lead Over Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP) — Howie Pollet pitched St. Louis Cardinals to a 2½-game lead in the National League race yesterday with a brilliant five-hit shutout effort against New York Giants, 4-0.

Routing the jinx that the Giants have held over the Cards all season, St. Louis rapped Dave Koslo for nine hits in handing him his 15th loss of the season.

POLLET NEVER was in any serious trouble in registering his 17th victory, sprinkling five singles over the route, never more than one in an inning.

Meanwhile, Chicago's defending champion Cubs handed Brooklyn's pennant hopes a second straight jolt by clawing out a 3-2 victory over the Dodgers in their final western game of the season.

Phil Cavarretta's seventh - inning single, following a walk to Johnny Metrowski, a sacrifice and an infield out, sent the Brooks home in second place.

HANK BOROWY was hit hard in the final stages and finally needed relief help from Ray (Pappy) Prim who hadn't pitched since May 19 to retire the last man in the ninth inning. The Bruins were 8½ games off the pace and six games back of the Dodgers at the close of the day's festivities.

Even Softballers Don't Want Owen

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 30 —(AP)—Organized softball Thursday closed its door to Mickey Owen—at least for this season.

The former Brooklyn Dodger catcher, suspended from organized baseball for five years, was denied the opportunity to catch for Springfield Knights of Columbus, district softball champions, in an exhibition game against a city association all-star team here last night.

Dainty Cakes Win 5-2 from Moose

Dainty Cakes scored all their runs in the first inning at Kingsway Park Thursday night when they turned back Moose 5-2 in the first game of the best of three City Senior Men's Fastball League semi-final series.

The bakery boys got to Wilbert Orr for five singles and took advantage of a walk, a fielder's choice and two Moose errors to push across their five in the initial frame.

After that Orr settled down and pitched one-hit ball for the rest of the way, but his mates couldn't overcome the big margin.

Signed Players Must Go to O.C.

CALGARY, Aug. 30 -(CP) "Hockey players signed by Claude Kewley of the Scottish Ice Hockey Association must go to Scotland," Dr. W. G. Hardy, president of the International Ice Hockey Association, announced here Thursday. Dr. Hardy was on his way to Banff for a brief holiday.

Dr. Hardy made the announcement after being informed by Mr. Kewley that players who had signed agreements with him are being approached by CAHA and minor league professional clubs.

"At the I.I.H.A. meeting in New York it was agreed by the C.A.H.A. and the I.I.H.A. that all players signed by Claude Kewley for Scotland and approved by the C.A.H.A. must manor their signature and will not be allowed to play for any club on this side," said Dr. Hardy.

Regarding Tommy Gorman's announcement that he is securing Canadian players for South Africa, Dr. Hardy pointed out that no C.A.H.A. player may go to South Africa until South Africa joins the I.I.H.A. and the C.A.H.A. approves of the transfers.

Canada Packers Stop Legionettes

Canada Packers got the jump on Canadian Legionettes in the City Intermediate Girls' Fastball League final Thursday night when they posted a 10-8 victory in a game played at Diamond Park.

Next game in the best of five series is set for Tuesday at Diamond Park, starting time 6:15.

A three run homer in the sixth inning by Helen Sernia provided the winning punch for the Packing girls. The winners were leading by a slim margin when Helen clouted the tripper, but Legionettes came back with three in the last of the sixth that would have put them ahead if it had not of been for the three-run homer.

Score by innings:

Can. Packers	010	504	0—10	13	6
Legionettes	030	023	0— 8	10	9

Edmonton's North Side Legion undoubtedly will go all out Saturday night under the floodlights at Clarke Stadium in an effort to sew up the Alberta senior soccer championship when they meet Calgary Callies in the second game of the series. The game starts at 7.30 o'clock.

The Edmonton eleven, a team which has not been beaten all season either in league play or play-offs, journeyed to Calgary last Saturday and took a 4-1 decision from the south champs in one of the most thrilling games Calgary fans have seen in a long time.

THE LEGION SQUAD will be out in full force. They will have Bill Ness, who held Army and Navy Vets scoreless on Tuesday evening, in goal; Jim Ross and D. McIntosh at fullback positions; Pat James, Ted Lewis and Jim Anderson at halfback spots and Jack Wilce, E. Hawkes or Sam Ross, George Ross, Bob Graham and Harry Skidmore on the forward line. S. Revise Divorce Act in Britain

LONDON, (CP) — Britain's cumbersome divorce system, swamped by a post-war rush of loveless couples, is undergoing revision that will make legal separation more quickly, if not more easily, obtainable.

So far no new grounds for divorce have been suggested, but a Committee on Procedure in Matrimonial Causes making its first report, recommended that the waiting period between the decree nisi and decree absolute should be reduced from six months to six weeks. The change went into effect Aug. 6.

Some 60,000 couples awaiting divorce will be affected by the revision which was generally greeted with applause although some persons critized it as making divorce too easy.

"Here in England it is often easier to get a divorce than to get yourself a pair of shoes of the right size," Rev. K. J. S. O'Ferral of St. Mark's church, north London, wrote in his parish magazine.

WINNIPEG, (CP) — A sectional meeting of the Canadian bar association, holding its 28th annual convention here, urged Thursday that divorce laws in Canada be made uniform by means of an over-all federal divorce act.

The committee's stand would reverse a resolution passed by the association at its 1944 convention which called for separate provincial legislation. It re-affirmed another divorce motion approved by the association the same year and which called for Canada's divorce laws to be brought into line with those of Great Britain.

(The present British legislation permits divorces for desertion without cause, gross cruelty, incurable unsoundness of mind for a minimum period of five years and legal presumption of death in addition to adultery, the only ground for divorce in Canada.)

Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia delegates said removal of jurisdiction over divorce from the federal to provincial authorities would be "a backward step" and serve only to accentuate already-existing provincial differences.

R. M. Willes Chitty, of Toronto, said there would "seem to be a better chance of obtaining some reform on this grave social question by provincial legislation than by dominion.

"The Canadian house of commons has twice thrown out a reform bill modelled on our recommendations, once without even a first reading."

Ask Settlements Without Strikes

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Nova Scotia and British Columbia committeemen attending a meeting of the Civil justice committee of the Canadian Bar association Thursday urged a solution of labor problems.

Pointing out that strikes and lockouts result finally in hardship for employer, employe and general public alike, the Nova Scotia report said Canada as a whole should insist on settlement of labor disputes without resort to strikes.

The British Columbia report said in part:

"There would be less chance of a strike being called if the vote were conducted by the provincial or federal departments of labor, through a secret ballot, rather than, as sometimes, by an open show of hands in a public meeting."

Much Too Tired for Needed Milk

A tired tot in a nursery school on the Isle de Sein, France, is oblivious to the gentle tapping of the nun who had to awaken him to get his cup of milk brought for the island's undernourished children. Heavy rains over Brittany this summer cut off the 1,260 inhabitants of the barren little island, five miles off the shores of western France, and they found themselves without food. Red Cross relief answered the emergency call and dispatched cartons of food and warm clothing to the island.

Soviet Tries for Support Of Germans With Promises

By Paul Ghali

PARIS, (CDN)—The Soviets are trying to win the support of the German people against an imaginary Anglo-Saxon threat, through the double-promise of building up a new unified reich and of restoring Germany's eastern borders.

This Soviet manoeuver, revealed to this correspondent by an unimpeachable source, makes crystal clear, at least to the French, the surprising Soviet resistance to French views regarding disposition of the Ruhr and the Rhineland, encountered at the recent Paris sessions of the Big-Four foreign ministers council.

By refusing to accept any new dismemberement of western Germany, the Russians are merely following a logical course in line with these promises.

Daily Promises Made

A series of reliable reports reaching here from Berlin disclose, according to the writer's information, almost daily promises by responsible Russian authorities toleaders of the Socialist Unified party—a Soviet-installed Communistic organization—to rebuild a unified reich and restore its eastern borders. These promises have been amplified and put in writing because of the imminence of elections in the Russian occupation zone slated for Sunday, it is stated.

This Russian attitude, which goes counter to the Potsdam agreement and reveals a completely new trend in Russia's European policy, was confirmed recently through reports quoting oppositional circles in the Polish capital. These statements indicated that Soviet Ambassador to Poland Viktor Z. Lebiediov, had sounded out Polish Premier Edward Osubka-Morawski, regarding the possibility of a new modification of the Polish borders as they were fixed at Potsdam.

The Russian envoy, according to these reports, stated that the Soviet was ready to return to Poland the two districts of Lwow and Borislav, incorporated in the Ukraine since 1945. In exchange, Poland would be asked to give back to Germany Silesia and Pomerania. There is no indication that eastern Prussia came into these talks.

Poles Are Cold

The Polish premier's reaction to the Soviet suggestion is described here as extremely cold. The Polish government also faces general elections soon, and any divulgence of Russia's intentions may raise torrents of discontent in Poland, and hamper the prime minister's election chances. According to one report here, the Polish premier asked the Soviet ambassador to postpone further discussion of the question until after the elections.

The Poles are certain to seek to obtain the return of the two Polish-populated districts of Lwow and Borislav but, at the same time, they have already installed themselves solidly in Silesia and Pomerania, have expelled the German populations there and have no wish to abandon these rich spoils.

One Polish official summarized Poland's attitude by saying crudely, "A country cannot change its frontiers as one changes one's shirt."

Unpleasant Blow

The main reason behind the strong Polish anxiety, however, is the realization that the Russians are ready to let them down in favor of the more numerous, and politically more important, Germans. They feel that this is another unpleasant and undeserved blow, after their long sufferings.

Officials at the Polish embassy here have no information concerning any Soviet proposal to their government and, consequently, are in no position to either confirm or deny the reports.

That Russia intends actually to carry through either its suggestions to the Poles or its promises to the German Socialist unified party, appears extremely unlikely.

However, the Soviet strategy seems to have the double advantage of keeping Poland in line and of making friends with the Germans.

May Surface Roads Lloydminster Oil

REGINA, (CP) -- Study of the experimental use of crude oil from the Lloydminster field for surfacing of roads will be made by the minister of highways, J. T. Douglas who Thursday started a tour of inspection of highways and roads in northwestern Saskatchewan.

Success of the experiment would result in greater use of the oil for building and finishing, Mr. Douglas said.

Banking Committee Changes Tax Bill

OTTAWA, (CP)-The senate banking committee, by a vote of 9-7, Thursday adopted an amendment to the Income Tax bill to provide that the new tax appeal board be empowered to decide appeals on the use of discretionary powers of the revenue minister as well as on law and fact.

The amendment, moved by Senator Lucien Moraud (Prog. Cons., Quebec) is in accordance with the unanimous report of the senate's taxation committee.

The effect of the amendment would be to have only one board, from whose rulings appeals could be made either by the minister or the taxpayer to the exchequer court of Canada.

Britain Building 5 New Cyclotrons

STOCKHOLM, (NANA) — Britain is building five new cyclotrons in addition to the two atom-smashing machines she already possesses, according to Prof. Svedberg, chief of nuclear studies at Sweden's Upsala university, quoted by Svenska Dagbladet.

Prof. Svedberg, who has just returned from a two-week visit to England, where he took part in celebrations commemorating Sir Isaac Newton's tricentenary, is himself directing the construction at Upsala of a giant cyclotron which will develop 100,000,000 electronvolts.

Monty Sidesteps Delicate Subjects

OTTAWA, (CP)— Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery told reporters here Thursday the way he beat Rommel's Africa Korps was to decide on a battle plan and refuse to be diverted from it. And reporters, leaving his first press conference in Canada, decided the veteran of Alamein had conquered them by the same method.

He "kept the ball" during most of the interview and when he did let it go, he made sure it was rolling in the direction that suited his plans.

He neatly sidestepped questions on delicate Canadian subjects such as conscription, Canada's Commonwealth defence contribution, Anglo-American equipment standardization and integration of forces. With a bland smile and a wave of his hand to defence Minister Abbott, the famous soldier said such subjects were matters for the statesmen and not for the soldiers.

Turning to the possibilities of atomic warfare, the field marshal said there was no evidence yet that this form of destruction would eliminate the necessity for large armies.

And there always would be a useful role for the infantryman—he's one himself—on the battlefield of the future. "We must be prepared for battles on land as in the past," he added.

He spoke of his anti-spit-and-polish campaign for the British soldier and said that while he believed discipline was necessary and vital to an army he thought a soldier, in his off-duty hours, should be given every freedom to do what he wishes. At the same time he wasn't advocating a "free and easy" policy.

As for dress, he said with a chuckle any attempt to meddle with the kilts in the British army would result in a revolt in Scotland.

Security Council Meetings Tense

NEW YORK, (CP)—What strikes the observer of the United Nations security council, now meeting in the new interim headquarters building at Lake Success on nearby Long Island, is the aggressive atmosphere over the council table.

This most powerful body in the United Nations organization, whose five permanent members are the so-called Big Five—the United Kingdom, the United States, Russia, France and China—and six elected powers—Australia, Brazil, Egypt, Mexico, The Netherlands and Poland—carries the world's hope for permanent peace.

What the delegates say in the privacy of their exclusive lounge outside the chamber is not known. But when they file in and take their seats they act almost like strangers to each other.

And when the discussions start there is one central and ominous keynote from the beginning. It makes the spectator feel that the objective is not an effort to do the greatest good for the greatest number but to oppose any indication of of an individual delegate achieving an objective which might be to his own country's advantage.

A.F.U. Secretary Answers Criticism

Replying to criticisms by R. M. MacCrimmon, Fort Saskatchewan of a farm produce withholding strike proposed by the Alberta Farmers' Union unless demands for parity prices are met by the federal government, R. J. Boutillier, secretary-treasurer of the farm body Wednesday said, "If he does not retract we will know on which side of the fence he wishes to remain."

Mr. MacCrimmon, a member of the advisory council of the Canadian wheat board, said the A.F.U. delegation, now in Ottawa to present their claims, "are not going to Ottawa as a democratic bargaining delegation but as shock troops armed not with a brief, but rather with an ultimatum to which the government must accede."

Joining the rebuttal, A. B. Olsen, Homeglen, executive member of the A.F.U. board of directors, said, "the statement made by Mr. MacCrimmon would appear to have a reactionary source and has led the farmers to believe more than ever that to rectify the agricultural situation through resolutions and petitions would be of little avail if presented to the officials of which Mr. MacCrimmon is the mouthpiece.'

"These tactics in our opinion have forced the farmers to resort to direct action," he added.

Mr. Boutillier said: "Our delegation has gone to Ottawa with fair and equitable demands . . . Ottawa deems it advisable to get its western representative to defend its position of raising prices of all farm supplies with the hope of heading off the farmers in the event negotiations fail."

"For the first time since inception of the A.F.U. we have drawn out those who have been hiding behind a cloak in the disguise of government boards," charged Mr. Boutillier.

"Mr. MacCrimmon, a member of the wheat board, says he does not speak as a member of the board altogether but gives his own personal views. This we cannot excuse," said Mr. Boutillier.

More Road Patrols By Mounties Asked

CALGARY, (CP)—An appeal for the R.C.M.P. to increase its personnel to the point where it can adequately patrol Alberta highways to cut down car accidents was made Wednesday by L. M. Saint, secretary of the Alberta Motor association.

"The increase in motor car accidents in the province is deplorable," Mr. Saint said "and the adequate patrolling of highways is is a definite necessity in the interest of safety."

Vote on Acceptance Of Wage Increase

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Employes of Burns and Company's packing plant voted Wednesday on acceptance of a five-cents-an-hour wage increase offered by the company. Workers at the Canada Packers Limited plant, also members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) will vote Thursday on the same proposal. Results will be announced in Toronto.

Plan Tourist Facilities On Alaska Highway

Good progress is being made with construction of refueling stations and lunchrooms for accommodation of necessary through traffic on the Alaska Military highway and next spring it is hoped to add tourist hotels and camps, L. H. Phinney, special Canadian commissioner for northwest defence projects stated Thursday. The stations are about 100 miles apart.

A CONFERENCE of the commissioner and other agencies connected with the highway and representatives of the B. C. government will be held in Victoria in September, Commissioner Phinney said.

At that time it is expected the wartime order making he highway and adjacent land within one mile of the road a restricted military area will be rescinded.

THE ORDER HAS already been rescinded in regards to the highway in the Yukon Territory.

Once this restriction is lifted the way will be clear for purely civilian companies obtaining federal permits to construct tourist establishments of a permanent type, the commissioner pointed out.

As long as the existing regulation is in force in B. C. only companies under contract to the army can construct facilities and these are more or less of the emergency type.

CIVILIAN TRAFFIC during the present summer proceeding north has been made largely of Americans going to Alaska for permanent settlement or on business. The highway is still closed to tourist traffic.

"We have made a good start this summer in permanent refueling stations, erected by Imperial Oil Ltd.", the commissioner said.

"Next spring should see the start on good permanent tourist establishments," he added.

Officials pointed out that breeders having livestock which they consider suitable for the show should notify the secretary of their association, or one of the selection officials appointed by the association

The award winners, according to an announcement by the fellowship selection committee in Toronto, are Charles Richard Stelck, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Stelck, 10985 124 street, and Ivan Mearns Six, Turner Valley.

UNDERGRADUATE scholarships, valued at $500 each, went to Delbert Roger Wright of Turner Valley and Evelyn Mae Dennis of Calgary. The winners were selected from 57 applicants across the country approved by the provincial departments of education. The Alberta area considered included Yukon and Northwest Territories.

The fellowship awards, valued at $1,000 yearly, may be for three years each, according to the announcement from Toronto.

Stelck's award was given for research in petroleum geology, while the Six award went for petroleum engineering research.

Roads in Alberta Said Satisfactory

The "discouraging" information he was given on the condition of Alberta's principal roads have no foundation in fact, according to a visitor to the city from North Dakato, R. J. Hughes, president of the North Dokota Automobile club and a director of the United States—Canada—Alaska Prairie Highway Association.

MR. HUGHES motored to Edmonton from his home via Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper. At points where he inquired as to road conditions about places on his itinerary, he received information about roads that was more discouraging than accurate.

"The roads might not be the best so far as easterners, accustomed to travelling on only paved highways are concerned, but to myself, coming from North Dakota where we have much the same problem as you in Alberta, the roads were satisfactory," he said.

Police Investigate Robbery Attempt

Attemp to break into the Jasper Billiard hall, 9669 Jasper avenue, was made about 12.45 a.m. Friday it was reported to city police by Harry J. Dzigolyk, 10957 95 street. Andy Demko, janitor of the premises, said that he was attracted by the sound of glass breaking in a basement door and on investigating he saw a man standing in the doorway. He immediately turned and ran away. The man is described as being about five feet seven inches in height, wearing a light windbreaker and grey pants. His complexion was dark.

Bank Clearings

Bank clearings through the Edmonton clearing house for the week ended August 29 were $11,359,670.20, as compared with $8,878,481.16, recorded during the corresponding period last year, it was disclosed Thursday.

Review Rehabilitation Of Vets in Alberta

Great magnitude of the work involved in "reconverting" Northern men into productive civilians was revealed Thursday by John W. Proctor district administrator, Northern Alberta district department of veterans' affairs.

THE ADMINISTRATOR was addressing the Northern Alberta conference of chairmen if citizens' rehabilitation committees, holding a two-day meet at the Macdonald hotel.

Service personnel discharged in the northern department, extending from Red Deer to the Arctic and the Rockies to the Coppermine, numbered more than 22,000, in the past year, Mr. Proctor stated.

There has been an average of 400 wounded and disabled veterans in departmental hospitals and 300 patients treated as out-patients.

VETERANS RECEIVING dental treatment numbered 20,000.

Last term there were 1,300 veterans in training at the University of Alberta and 1,500 are expected to enroll this fall.

Average attendance at vocational training schools was 600. Those taking pre-matriculation totalled 600 with over 300 average training-on-the-job.

Veterans drawing out-of-work benefits last spring when jobs were scarce numbered 2,300. This number has now been reduced to 150.

THERE ARE 3,000 veterans awaiting returns allowance. Of these 85 per cent are on their own farms. With a good crop this year the rehabilitation of these veterans should be completed.

On the ledger sheets in the district treasury office is a credit for veterans of $9,500,000.

Of this date only $2,500,000 has been used.

Credits are available for the next 10 years, so that the unexpended credits indicate clearly the veteran is thinking carefully and not throwing his money away. It would seem he is waiting for better opportunities and lower costs.

LEGAL ADVICE is given to an average of 100 veterans per week.

The staff at the department here numbers 300, all of whom are veterans.

Veterans of two wars are obtaining considerable employment through the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires.

Col. P. J. Philpott, advisor on veterans to the deputy minister of veterans' affairs told the conference that the federal government has removed the RCMP as guards on more than 300 buildings and these have been replaced by veterans through the operation of the Corps of Commissionaires.

COL. PHILPOTT urged provincial governments and individual employers to make greater use of the Corps of Commissionaires in hiring help.

Capt. Allan R. Gillies, commandant of the Edmonton Corps of Commissionaires, outlined the operation of the corps and care and training of members.

Citizens were urged to make rehabilitation a real community enterprise. This great task should not be left up to the Canadian Legion and other associations of war veterans entirely, he thought. Service clubs of all kinds should also pitch in.

A RESOLUTION, introduced by the Edmonton Canadian Legion, urging that transportation be provided for veterans going to jobs, was passed after some discussion.

It was pointed out that the national employment service provided transportation costs to job-seekers during the war and it felt the practice should be resumed in the case of veterans seeking employment in the post-war period.

Cutting in Alberta Not Yet General

Harvesting in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan is in advance of last year at this time, with Alberta breaking even with the summer of 1945, according to the weekly crop reports issued today by the agricultural departments of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. In Alberta cutting will not be general for another week. Labor appears adequate at all points. Machinery supplies and repairs are causing concern in some localities

IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA, cutting is just getting underway again. About 30 percent of the crop has been cut so far with very little being straight combined. Not enough has been harvested to give an accurate indication of yield. It is feared, however, that grades will be a bit low.

Central Alberta is behind the rest of the prairies in cutting and it will not be general for another week. It is expected that the majority of the grain will be combined. Some threshing has been done along the Saskatchewan border in the area which suffered from frost. Wheat is averaging about 12 bushels per acre, and grading two and three which is better than expected.

IN THE PEACE RIVER area, cutting is coming along well with about 35 percent of the wheat and oats, and 75 percent of the barley cut. Yields in the Sexsmith, Clairmont, Grande Prairie and Wembley districts were better than expected, and loss from lodging in the area from Kinuso to Wanham will be much lighter than originally estimated.

Says Veterans Pay For War They Won

People of Alberta and this includes the large number of ex-servicemen and women are actually paying for the war they fought and won, Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial secretary and minister of economic affairs, declared in an address at a banquet of chairmen of Northern Alberta Citizens' rehabilitation committees in the Macdonald Thursday.

REHABILITION committees chairmen are holding a two-day conference discussing all phases of rehabilitation.

Mr. Hooke said there were many voices being raised in Canada today preparing the people for another depression. He thought this a defeatist attitude of the worst kind.

He drew attention to the fact the Alberta per capita debt was around $1,400 before the war. Now it is above $2,000.

"THE VETERANS are actually paying for the war they won," he declared.

It is up to the people to see that another depression does not come. We in Canada have all the resources we require for a high standard of living with security for all, the minister stated. If the people are determined we can have prosperity, he said.

Mayor Harry Ainlay also spoke to the banquet guests.

REHABILITATION dealt with two types of veteran, the mayor stated, the young man who went into the service without ever having held a job and the veteran who had experienced the last depression.

Naturally the man who has been through the bitter experience of a depression is easier to re-establish He still has a lingering fear of insecurity Mayor Ainlay said.

JOHN W. PROCTOR, district administrator for Northern Alberta district of the department of veterans' affairs, was chairman.

Street Railway Dispute Settled

VANCOUVER, (CP) — Settlement of the dispute between the B.C. Electric Railway Co. and the Street Railwaymen's Union (A.F.L.) over a new agreement was announced Thursday.

Edwin Eades, federal conciliator in the dispute, said representatives of both sides had agreed to a 10-cent hourly wage increase for union members in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster. This brings wages for motormen and conductors to 89 cents an hour.

Mr. Eades said both sides had agreed on a contributory pension scheme, a welfare plan and 30 individual improvements in working conditions.

The employes will vote Sept. 9 on acceptance of the agreement but the union advisory board will recommend acceptance.

Mr. Eade, in reporting the agreement will cost the company an extra $850,000 annually, said the company should seek no increase in fares.

Ottawa Will Keep Men's Fingerprints

OTTAWA, (CP)—No action is contemplated to destroy the fingerprints of service personnel taken during the war,, Defence Minister Abbott said in a return tabled in the commons.

Mr. Abbott said the prints formed part of the service record and therefore would be retained.

Nazi Throws Coffee, Photographer Calm

NUERNBERG, Germany, (AP) —Hjalmar Schacht, former Reichsbank president and one of the war crimes defendants, threw a cup of steaming coffee Thursday on B. I. Sanders, Associated Press photographer. Sanders calmly wiped off his camera and took his picture of Schacht, eating lunch in a small dining room above the international courtroom.

Continue Attack On Prices Policy

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA. — Opposition groups continued their attack on the government's wage control and price ceiling policy Thursday night as a work-weary commons sat until after midnight jamming through estimates with a hope prorogation might be possible by Saturday.

C.C.F. members spearheaded the drive against the government's wages-prices stand when an $11,575,000 item for the administration of the board came up. Progressive Conservatives added criticism, the encircling maoeuvre being met with a spirited and firm defence by Acting Finance Minister Abbott.

The shortage of men's shirts children's clothing and other essential items, the government's action in withdrawing the subsidy on milk, the alleged failure of the administration to hold the prices line— were problems flung on the government's doorstep.

Says Consumer Loses

Clarence Gillis, (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) summed up his criticism of the government's action in relaxing price ceilings by declaring "the consumer is being taken for a ride."

He termed "misleading" the government's explanation that a recent increase in the price of women's clothing had been occasioned by wage increases in the garment industry.

"It is obviously intended to throw the onus of responsibility on workers," Mr. Gillis charged. He was convinced much of the trouble in industry was because ceilings had not been maintained.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) charged the prices board met industry "in private" when requests for price increases were being discussed.

But it was the public who "paid the shot," and all such negotiations should be conducted in public.

May Keep Milk Subsidy

That the government may yet change its mind in respect to the payment of milk subsidy was indicated, when Mr. Abbott said the matter would be considered further.

Speaking on the estimates of the department of trade and commerce, Carl Homuth (Prog. Cons., Waterloo South) said Canada had to watch her trade carefully if she was to compete successfuully with nations who had lower wage rates.

Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, said of the aggregate increase in his department's estimates of $3,175,000, a total of $1,360,000 was occasioned by the cost of the quinquennial census being taken of the prairie provinces. Over $1,000,000 was required for the six divisions making up the foreign trade service.

Says Country May Invade Fisheries

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Maj. J.A. Motherwell, retiring chief supervisor of fisheries in British Columbia, said here that " a certain country with a club in its hand" in the future may invade the fisheries off the North American Pacific coast.

Speaking at a dinner given in his honor, Maj. Motherwell said "we were able to stop the Japanese before the war, when they fished into Bristol Bay on the Pacific coast, but I don't see how we're going to stop these people."

Maj. Motherwell did not name the country to which he referred, but said he understood it had recently appointed a director of fisheries for the Pacific.

"You can't tell me they'll fish only off their own shores," he said, adding: "They're going after the fish where they are—and the fish are on the British Columbia and Alaskan coasts."

Speaker Praises Citizenship Bill

FORT WILLIAM, (CP) — Paul Martin, secretary of state, will explain provisions of the Canadian citizenship bill in a nation-wide tour sponsored by the Association of Canadian Clubs, it was announced Thursday by Paul A. McFarlane of Montreal in his presidential address to the association's annual convention.

Mr. McFarlane praised the citizenship bill as a forward step toward full Canadian nationhood, and said Canadian clubs had an "influential part" in getting the measure placed before parliament.

Canadian clubs could do much toward educating aliens in their responsibilities of citizenship and could help them become good Canadians after they obtained naturalization papers, he said, calling on individual clubs to foster a greater general interest in public affairs.

John Steuart Curry U.S. Artist, Dead

MADISON, Wis., (AP) —John Steuart Curry, one of the lusty triumvirate whose painting carried midwestern art to the galleries of the world, died Thursday at 48 after a heart attack.

The death of Curry, artist in residence at the University of Wisconsin since 1936, following that of Grant Wood, leaves only Missouri's Thomas Hart Benton of the trio whose work raised storms of critical conflict as violent as their canvas portrayals.

Curry's work was familiar to thousands of Canadian gallery visitors. His "Line Storm" and "John Brown" are among the most popular modern prints among collectors who favor the realistic schools of painting.

Fat on Stolen Bait, Monk Finally Nabbed

NEW YORK, (AP) — The madcap monkey of Manhattan, which grew fat on bananas it stole from traps set for him, was captured Wednesday after a three-month frolic over city rooftops. It was only a half-block from home.

Last of a mob of freedom-loving simians which escaped May 11 from a pet shop, the monkey got lazy and arrogant from his success in stealing bananas from spring traps.

"I couldn't understand how he did it," groaned his owner, Henry Trefflich, pet shop operator. "So I watched a trap. He braced his back against one edge, raised a hind leg and held the door, and then just leaned in sidwise and snatched the banana."

The monkey's downfall came when it started making faces at firemen. They helped Trefflich chase it into the cellar of a food store.

The monk was so full of bananas it couldn't dodge fast enough. Now it's back in a cage.

Garson Believes Agreement Nearer

WINNIPEG, (CP)—A statement from the office of Premier Garson of Manitoba Thursday said the Premier does not know whether he'll be a candidate for national leadership of the Liberal party in event of Prime Minister King's retirement. The statement added Premier Garson believes the respective governments are closer to an agreement on dominion-provincial relations than they were when the Ottawa conference adjourned some months ago.

The statement consisted of a questionaire submitted by the Toronto Globe and Mail with Premier Garson's answers. It follows:

1. Will you be a candidate for national leadership of the Liberal party in the event of Prime Minister King's retirement from that position?

Answer: At present I do not know.

2. You have said you are "not prepared even to consider taking on any other task" until "a general agreement" between the dominion and the provinces or between the dominion and Manitoba has been effected. On conclusion of such agreement or agreements and such agreements being satisfactory to you would you then be in a position to accept or to seek the national leadership or to be a candidate for that position?

Answer: That would depend upon what the circumstances were after the completion of a dominion-provincial agreement satisfactory to Manitoba. At present I do not know what these circumstances will be.

3. Do you think we are any closer to reaching a satisfactory dominion-provincial agreement than we were at the adjournment of the last Ottawa conference this year?

Answer: Yes.

Oil production in Hungary will be nationalized.

Didn't Kill Three, Says Heirens Letter

CHICAGO, (AP)—An undated letter from William Heirens, to his parents,written in jail and confiscated last month, said he had confessed three killings although he had not committed them "so I could be sure of killing myself and not cause anyone any more grief."

The letter was one of three confiscated when officials found them in the 17-year-old youth's cell. Heirens signed a confession Aug. 6 that he killed Suzanne Degnan, Frances Brown and Mrs. Josephine Ross.

Resolution Meets Heated Debate

WINNIPEG, (CP) — A resolution asking the civil justice section of the Canadian Bar association to record its disapproval of the appointment of judges to royal commissions met heated debate at a committee meeting here Thursday.

The resolution was worded so that the civil justice section would consider the appointment of judges to commissions as "prejudicial to the administration of justice," and recommend permanent professional commissioners be appointed to deal with matters similar to the recent spy probe.

Speaking against the resolution, W. B. Scott of Montreal, said he had attended the trial of Fred Rose, former member of parliament who was convicted on espionage charges, and that the jury appeared "not to have been swayed by the report of the royal commission despite the fact that it was made public prior to the trial,"

J. B. Coyne, of Winnipeg suggested the resolution be limited so that it would apply to appellate judges only. He said that if any of the cases affected by the report of the royal commission espionage were appealed to the supreme court, at least two supreme court judges would be disqualified by the fact that they comprised the commission.

Mr. Coyne went on to mention the possibility of a split three-two vote by the remaining five (of seven) judges. The majority of three would not be a majority of the entire court.

Other speakers emphasized the fact that judges who appear on commissions or special boards frequently have to judge cases on which they have already committed themselves.

Vocational Plan Proves Popular in Saskatchewan

REGINA, Aug. 30—(CP)—Saskatchewan dentists are on the lookout for veterans who can stand the sight of blood — women veterans, that is.

A NEW OPPORTUNITY for ex-servicewomen particularly is presented by Regina dentists who have asked Edythe Coulter, formerly a CWAC captain and now women's supervisor for Canadian Vocational Training in Saskatchewan, whether she knows of any suitable applicants for jobs as dental assistants.

The dentists have other specifications too regarding applicants. One asked for a blond about five feet two inches tall. Others mention only typing and bookkeeping as requirements.

THE GIRLS WOULD not be dental nurses — a position which requires a university degree — but would perhaps help with instruments if not required full-time as receptionists. Dentists would prefer assistants who had done the same job in the service.

Under the CVT plan those taking "training on the job" would receive the regular $60 per month [illegible]

More than 480 ex-servicewomen in Saskatchewan have taken training under the CVT scheme since last April. Their jobs have ranged from fur finishing to photography. There are many openings in both these jobs now but girls are reluctant to take them up, Miss Coulter revealed

The CVT has planned a program which will aid in relieving the critical shortage of nurses being felt across the Dominion.

A NURSES' aid course will begin here in September with the approval of the Saskatchewan Registered Nurses Association. Fifteen students will take the nine-month course including work in dietetics, nutrition, family relations, cooking and sewing. They are practically all guaranteed jobs with new hospitals scheduled to open throughout the province within the next year.

Non-servicewomen are beginning to be included in training under CVT. They will be enrolled where there are vacancies in the nurses' aid course and also in a course in homemaking opening at Saskatoon in August.

The largest group studying under CVT in Saskatchewan is taking pre-matriculation courses. But jobs going begging in the "training on the job" program include: floor managers, photographers, florists, dry cleaners and cake finishers.

Edmonton Teen-Agers Stage Fashion Show at the Bay

"Pedal-pushers," "whistle-bait "wolf sweaters" and "saddle shoes" were some of the expressions heard at the teen-age fashion show in the Empire room of the Hudson's Bay Company store Thursday afternoon

OLGA LARUSKA

Miss Olga Laruska, of the central branch of the Edmon-teens was director of the fashion show. She wrote the script, trained the models and announced the styles.

In conjunction with the fashion show a colored film "Life with the Teens" was shown depicting teen-age activities and the clothes they wear.

YOUTHFUL models were the Misses Jane Ramsey, Myriam Dobson, Dorain Patterson, Phyllis Magee, Barbara Hansford and Jean Fraser.

Styes shown included a white crepe blouse atop a dark wool skirt. A studded natural leather belt completed the ensemble.

A pink wool shag coat had notched revers and lucite buttons. A pastel blue wool suit was trimly tailored with new fashion details of notched revers and three-button fastioning. A pastel plaid skirt with slimming knife pleats was worn with a tucked-in sweater and a studded leather belt. There was a "dreamy" three-piece suit of soft basket weave wool made with cardigan, pleated skirt and a shortie top coat.

Colors include green, red, brown, black, grey, paddy green, rose, blue, gold and lime green.

A coat with great squares of half a dozen vivid shades, long enough to touch the back of the knees, was built on the generous lines of a tent.

PEDAL PUSHERS are abbreviated slacks worn for bicycle riding. One outfit had a navy blue blazer, plaid skirt, white blouse and royal blue ballerina slippers. Nice for hiking.

A wool afternoon frock was of rusty shepherd's plaid made with fullness of the bias-cut sleeves and a monkish, green-lined cowl worn swept back from the shoulders

A trim-belted college suit got its distinction from line and detail—a brown check jacket and plain brown skirt.

Evening gowns had well defined lines with one featuring a halter top and sequin trim. There were gowns in white jersey, sky blue taffeta and rose.

The show was repeated Friday afternoon with the Empire room packed to over flowing and will be repeated again at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Indian Marriage Laws Are Approved

By KAY REX

TORONTO, Aug. 30—(CP)—Mrs. Naswen Yakoob of Hyderabad, India, demurely crossed one gold sandal over the other, drew the blue silk sahri snuggly about her and smiled approval of India's marriage laws which allow her to travel with her husband while his other two wives look after her three young sons.

Clad in the red fez and long black coat of a fashonable Moslem, Mohammed Yakoob, wealthy biscuit manufacturer, stopped long enough from looking after train tickets and porters to say quite frankly his third wife is his favorite because she has given him sons.

The couple left India two months ago on a world tour which has taken them throughout Europe and the United States.

The Yakoobs carry several family pictures including snapshots of the two other wives and their daughters.

Mrs. Yakoob showed no concern about her children. "They call me 'Auntie,' and the other wives 'Mother,'" she said. "You see the children naturally call the women who look after them 'Mother.'"

In India Mrs. Yakoob knows nothing of the servant problem so prominent in Canada. There are 10 servants in the family household and more available if needed.

Twenty-four-year-old Naswen takes an active interest in her husband's business and readily explained questions concerning the machines he uses in his factory and method of operation.

New World Guides Can Learn From Old

ADELBODEN, Switzerland, Aug 30(CP Cable)—Miss Marian Savage of Montreal told an international training conference at this Bernese Oberland resort that "the new world Girl Guides have a great deal to learn from their European sisters."

Miss Savage, representing the Canadian Girl Guides, is one of 37 delegates representing 22 countries assembled here to exchange ideas on practical Guid work. She said the French, with their imaginative approach to the work, impressed her most and added that she would return to Canada full of new ideas and with renewed confidence that the Guides have a part to play in preservation of world peace.

"Despite differences of languages and habits we have discovered we have a lot in common," she said.

550 Applications To Farm Schools

VERMILION.—Schools of agriculture and home economics at Olds and Vermilion will be filled to capacity this fall as applications have far exceeded accommodation at the two schools.

Provincial department of agriculture has announced that for the next school term starting Oct 22 there have been 550 applications received and more are being filed daily. Total accommodation of the schools is 400.

In view of this excess, all applications have been reviewed by a committee. Priority of acceptance is being given to older applicants and to ex-servicemen with the required farm experience. The younger applicants, especially those at the minimum age of 17 years, have been advised that their applications will have to be held over for a year and will be considered for the 1947-48 term.

Purpose of the schools is to provide training for young farm men and women whose life work will be farming and the establishment of farm homes. The board of agricultural education is making a careful survey before adopting any policy of permanent expansion. In the meantime, many applicants will be obliged to delay attendance for at least another year. There is little chance that later applications will be accepted for the coming term, unless, as is not anticipated, some of the earlier applications are cancelled.

Army Finds Areas Good for Training

By Hal Pawson

MILE 160 THE ALASKA HIGHWAY. —The Indians came in for a big play at the initial conference of the Operation North expedition when Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington received the results of the first day's survey from his 40-odd officers.

Mainly reserve officers from Alberta and British Columbia, they scoured the near highway territory for 160 miles searching for training locations, suitable for small groups and schemes of Canada's future peacetime army. Before he took the reports, the commander of Western Army Command again stressed that Operation North was in itself a training scheme, and a study of defence of the north, if ever necessary.

But to get back to the Indians. The territory scanned on the first day of the 13-day, 99-man scheme, revealed at least three areas suitable, in the minds of patrol leaders to training Canadians in the art of ambush warfare, essentially a defence type of fighting. Before the exercise left Edmonton, the commander asked his officers for negative information, as well as positive.

Negative information was not lacking but positive was not disappointing. One patrol popped up with the recommendation that training of Chindit columns or the like of Wingate's Raiders was suitable in its area for small groups only. Another suggested that as large a group as a regiment could be deployed for general tactics. All training, including major river crossings, could be attempted in the vicinity of one of the many rivers thanks to a large construction camp still standing or at least leaning.

In general the commander appeared pleased. Not so Maj. S. C. R. Cummins, commanding officer of the Westminister Regiment. While at the conference, his beret took a beating from pack rats in the abandoned hut in which he stowed his gear for the night.

Suggests Stimulus To Adult Learning

SASKATOON, (CP)— Lack of understanding and "know-how" on the part of adults and of an adequate meeting place were the two major obstacles in the way of programs of leisure-time education, J. A. B McLeish of Quebec City told the Canadian Federation of Home and School.

Canada Opposes Australian Move

PARIS, (CP)— Canada Thursday opposed an Australian amendment seeking a subcommission to obtain more information on the Trenda and Briga area of the Italian frontier, ceded to France in a draft treaty.

As the Australian delegate, Col. W. R. Hodgson, scowled at him, Health Minister Claxton said: "It appears doubtful if the submission would be useful in this particular case."

Canada then voted against the Australian proposal, which was heavily defeated. Col. Hodgson came over to Mr. Claxton, who heads the Canadian delegation in the absence of Prime Minister King, and said he wished the Canadians had stuck with him.

However, Mr. Claxton was emphatic in his belief that such a commission would be a waste of time and prolong the conference even more.

The amendment was proposed at a conference commission on Italian political and territorial arrangements.

Calls on Ottawa End Oil Mystery

By Torchy Anderson

OTTAWA.— Under the heading "The Abasand Mystery" the Toronto Globe and Mail editorializes on the "world's greatest oil deposits" that lie locked in the Alberta oil sands.

Viewing with dissatisfaction the government's "mysterious" policy in regard to the Abasand development the newspaper concludes:

"It is desirable that research continue on this amazingly valuable natural resource. If extraction is competitively economic, it may well be possible that Canada should not only become independent of foreign oil supplies, but an exporter itself. It would not be out of place, therefore, if the public were told in detail just what government intervention in this matter achieved, and what is the promise for the future. This mysterious silence should end."

Germans Favor Union to 'Party'

HERFORD, Germany, (AP)—German workers are looking to their trade unions rather than political parties to lead them to a better standard of life, says a British official close to the German labor situation.

"The word 'party' still smells in Germany," he said. "When Germans think of 'party' they think of the Nazi party. They are afraid if they become active in a political group it may turn out to be the wrong one and get them into trouble later."

As an example, he said, when German workers objected to the demolition of various industrial installations they voiced the protests through the unions rather than through politicians. They sent their appeal to Sir Walter Citrine, British labor leader.

The workers said they had no objections to the destruction of unquestioned war plants, but held that demolitions of such installations as docks and others which could be used for ordinary commercial purposes would hinder their chances to earn a livelihood.

British workers decided they wanted a so-called general union. Under this plan, all the workmen in the Hannover region would belong to one union, regardless of the type of work they performed.

'Allow Britons Take Own Bread to Cafe

LONDON, (Reuters)—Britons can eat bread and will have three full courses—despite rationing. The food ministry says so.

Those who eat in restaurants and hotels may bring their own bread in a paper bag or in their pockets.

The customer can even ask for a plate for the bread and if he brought a loaf, he can ask the waiter to cut it in slices.

As long as the bread is his own, he will not be running afoul of a recent regulation making bread one of three full courses allowed each person.

Claim Grain Policies Penalize Importers

LIVERPOOL, (Reuters)—Importing countries are being forced to subsidize Canadian and American farmers under the current grain policies of the North American countries, the Corn Trade News said in this week's issue.

The United States wheat market has been decontrolled, but the open market price still is determined largely by the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchases for export, the publication says.

Canada had announced she will charge the same price as the United States to countries other than Britain. In this way, the Corn Trade News says, importing countries are forced to subsidize the producing countries because the Commodity Credit Corporation pays higher prices than necessary.

The publication said many observers doubted the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement will run its full four years.

Urges Farm List Plug Tax 'Leak'

WINNIPEG, (CP)—G. W. Auxier of Edmonton suggested to the taxation section of the Canadian Bar association's convention Thursday that an annual questionaire, designed to keep the farmer's net-worth figures up to date, would be a solution to his [illegible] problems.

"Canadian taxation [illegible] clearly show there has been a great tax leakage in the direction of the farmer and I do no not believe any fair-minded farmer will dispute that statement."

In Saskatchewan in 1941 the farmers, with about 37 percent of the income of employes, paid only 17 percent as much tax, he said.

The form he suggested would ascertain the farmer's seasonal expenditures with "reasonable accuracy," include a statement of inventory and sales of grain and livestock. Questions also would deal with capital transactions such as sales or purchases of land and machinery.

Mr. Auxier said he was convinced farmers did not object to "carrying their fair share of the income tax burden," but they wanted the "annoying features of the tax" eliminated.

G. H. Steer, Edmonton, spoke to the section on legal education and training on the association's duties with regard to the teaching of law in Canada.

Far-Leftist Wins Scottish Election

GLASGOW, (CP)—The far-left Independent Labor party Friday retained its parliamentary seat for the Bridgeton division of Glasgow in a byelection caused by the death of James Maxton, leader of the party and one of its three members in the commons.

I. L. P. candidate James Carmichael polled 6,351 votes to 5,189 for John Wheatley, Labor nominee endorsed by Prime Minister Attlee. The Conservative candidate, Victor Warren, ran third.

Mr. Carmichael, who has described the Labor party as "not revolutionary enough," was backed by Mr. Maxton's son and sister.

Guy Alfred, Independent Socialist, forfeited his deposit for obtaining only 405 votes. An Independent Scottish Nationalist, Miss Wendy Wood, polled 2,575 votes. Miss Wood campaigned in a tartan skirt and balmoral, and decorated the platform with produce from her farm to emphasize the [illegible] of farm life.

Not Getting Paid Enough Money, British Dentists Begin Strike

By Basil Dean

LONDON. — Britain's dentists are beginning an unofficial "strike" of their own.

In Chichester, Sussex, dentists decided they will no longer treat patients who come to them for attention under provisions of Britain's national health insurance. This is because they consider the new scale of fees for this work which has been set by the ministry of national insurance is too low.

At the same time, the dentists indicated they would treat free of charge any patient who could not afford to pay and who was in pain.

Under the present national health insurance provisions, insured persons are entitled to free dental treatment provided this has been authorized by insurance authorities. They go to their own dentist who then collects the fee from the ministry. Dentists drew up what they considered a reasonable scale of fees but this was rejected by the Insurance Minister James Griffiths and a lower one substituted.

The result is that in Chichester patients who pay into the national health insurance plan (which is compulsory for all workers) will either have to pay for their own dental treatment or do without it - - at least until the dentists and the ministry reach some agreement. There seems little doubt that the Chichester lead will be followed by dentists in many other parts of Britain.

Australia Air Link Is Seen by 1947

By H.R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—Canada's new air [illegible] Australia, the broad outline of which [illegible] in an agreement signed by the two countries actually will see its inception in the Autumn of 1947, Hon. C.D. Howe, minister of reconstruction and supply, said Friday.

Mr. Howe said that there would be at least two flights each way, each week.

Canadian terminal of the service will be Vancouver, but Mr. Howe said that it had not been decided where in Australia the planes would land. Honolulu will be on the route.

"We will have to explore the route carefully, and work on this will be commenced next spring," said the minister. He added that the main hold-up in getting the service started was the lack of planes. The new planes of the "North Star" type now being built for Trans-Canada airlines will be used on the Canada-Australia run.

"We need a number of these to bring our Atlantic service up to scratch," said Mr. Howe. "We should have the Atlantic route fully equipped by the spring."

SYDNEY, Australia, (CP)—The Sydney Sun Friday said Vancouver, rather than San Francisco, would be the eastern terminal of the British Commonwealth airlines Trans-Pacific service scheduled to start Sept. 15 by an interim operator, the Australian National Airways.

This was a result of the failure of long negotiations to produce a reciprocal landing rights agreement between Australia and the United States, the Sun's Melbourne dispatch said.

OTTAWA, (CP)—Canada and Australia have concluded an agreement for the establishment of air services between the two countries, the external affairs department announced Thursday. No indication was given of when the service might start.

The agreement, following the form of one recently completed between the United Kingdom and Canada, makes provision for each government to designate an airline to operate a return service, originating in its own country.

While no mention was made in the announcement of the Canadian line it is the stated policy of the Canadian government to use the government-owned Trans-Canada Airlines for international service.

The Australian route is specified as Sydney to Vancouver via Fiji, Canton Island, Honolulu, San Francisco or other intermediate [illegible] to be operated by Canadian [illegible] the terminal Vancouver and Sydney leaving the intermediate stopping places to be mutually agreed on later.

Urge District Man's Papers be Revoked

WINNIPEG, (CP)—The revocation commission hearing applications of the secretary of state for the cancellation of naturalization certificates Thursday recommended the citizenship of two army deserters be revoked.

The two were Arthur G. Nadler of Regina and Walter Shumborski, Tomahawk, Alta.

Fail To Identify 'Saboteur' Ships

OTTAWA, (CP) — Fisheries Minister Bridges said Thursday in the commons no foreign governments have yet been approached on the question of Canadian fishing gear being destroyed by foreign trawlers on the Quero banks off Nova Scotia.

It had been established Canadian, United States, Newfoundland, Spanish, Portuguese and French trawlers were operating off the banks when the destruction occurred. However, skippers had not been able to identify definitely the trawlers which caused the damage.

The government had received complaints five schooners had suffered $1,350 worth of damage to gear as a result of the actions of the foreign trawlers. Eight other Canadian skippers interviewed reported no damage.

Mr. Bridges said the question had international complications and fell under the jurisdiction of the department of external affairs. Into the same category fell the question of an agreement with the United States on division of offshore fishing waters.

It was possible both question would be dealt with during the discussion on external affairs department estimates.

Jewish Terrorist Sentenced to Die

JERUSALEM, (CP)—Jacob Menahem Alcalay, the last of 23 members of the so-called Stern gang charged with sabotaging the Haifa railway yards last June, was sentenced to death by a military court in Jerusalem Friday.

Sir Evelyn Barker, British commander in Palestine, who Thursday night announced he had commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence previously pronounced against 18 other members of the same group. Four girls tried with the 18 two weeks ago were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Warning Issued Of Other Diseases

TORONTO, (CP) — Whooping cough, diptheria and scarlet fever all preventable diseases—take a greater annual toll of lives than poliomyelitis which now is of epidemic proportions in Montreal and above average in other parts of the country, the Health League of Canada said Friday.

In a statement issued in connection with National Immunization week Sept. 29-Oct. 5, the league said the polio outbreak is "tragic" but warned that other diseases are deadlier. In 1945 there were more deaths— 457 —from whooping cough than from polio, diptheria and scarlet fever combined.

Polio cases this year total almost 1,000, including more than 50 deaths.

Seamen Call Off General Strike

DETROIT, (AP)— Strike headquarters of the National Maritime union (C.I.O.) announced the "general" strike on the Great Lakes was being called off, effective at noon Friday, so the union could "concentrate" on individual shippers.

The N.M.U. said:

"The strike committee voted unanimously to terminate the strike against all companies as of noon Aug. 30, with the exception of [illegible] Steel, Nicholson, American Steel and Wire, Johnson Transportation Company, Brown and Shasta, Jupiter SS company and Texas Oil Company.

"The reason for this action is that:

"1. Through the pressure of the National Maritime union and the Lakes seamen we have been able to break the seven-day week week and establish the hours of 48 at sea and 44 and 40 in port.

"2. The effectiveness of the strike has compelled the Lake Carriers association to publicly recommend to their member companies that the [illegible] given conditions similar to the pattern which the N.M.U. has established on tankers and bulk freighters. . .

"We wish to emphasize we are not giving up the fight for the 40-hour week."

Guarantee Rights For Yugoslavians

BELGRADE.—The Federative Republic of the People of Yugoslavia has discarded many governmental traditions along with the monarchy as it moves into a new era under a near-Russian type of constitution.

The cautiously and carefully drafted document provides economic controls far in excess of those of western democracies. At the same time, it guarantees the rights of citizenship and private property.

Only diehard monarchists and extreme oppositionists find fault with the letter of the constitution. Democratic Party Chief Milan Grol, mild-mannered opposition leader, said publicly that none of the opposition parties have refused to recognize the "revolutionary basis" of the new constitution.

Under the constitution Marshal Tito heads the government in the dual role of premier and member of the supreme presidium. His position of premier is bolstered further by the fact that he holds the ministry of national defence.

Commander-in-Chief

One of the first actions of the legislative assembly was to vote Tito commander-in-chief of the Yugoslav army, a position he has held in fact since the national army grew from partisan bands of guerrila fighters.

On top of his official powers in the new state, Tito also is the undisputed leader of the People's Front, the Communist-dominated party coalition from which the government sprang. By Canadian standards, one would have to roll Prime Minister King, Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chief of staff, and Commissioner S. T. Wood of the R.C.M.P. into one to get an idea of Tito's position in Yugoslavia.

Trial proceedings, the constitution says, must be conducted in the languages of the respective units—Serbian, Croatian, Slovenian and Macedonian.

Private property is guaranteed, although enjoyment of it cannot be allowed to endanger the vital rights or interests of the state. Rights of inheritance also are guaranteed, but with the same restrictions.

Controlled Economy

Controlled economy is envisioned by the new constitution in the following provisions:

The principle is established that private property can be limited or confiscated for common interest, but only according to existing law; foreign trade is under full control of the state; all means of production are in the hands of the state, which can allot them to individuals if that is for the benefit of the community; mineral wealth including mineral waters and curative springs, the means of air, rail, communications, posts, telegraph, telephones and radio are the property of the community.

For the first time Yugoslav women are given equal rights with men. For their work they are entitled to pay which does not differ from that the men are receiving for their work. The state undertakes special responsibility for providing facilities to protect motherhood.

Constitution authors closely followed the Moscow model in putting supreme authority in the presidium rather than a single president. The presidium consists of one president, six vice-presidents, one secretary and up to 30 members. Its functions are to call parliament and to dissolve parliament in case of a disagreement between the two houses; to propose constitutional changes to parliament; to proclaim mobilization and a state of war in case of attack. The parliament, elected for four years, consists of two houses—the house of nationalities with 175 deputies, and the federal parliament with a deputy elected from each 50,000 of the population. In the house of nationalities each federal unit—Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia, Herzegovina, Croatia and Slovenia—has 25 deputies; and the autonomous provinces of Vojvodina and Kossovo-Metohija have 15 to 10 deputies respectively.

Sees Great Future For Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—Newfoundland is better situated than any other country in the world to make a business out of fisheries and every effort should be made to develop the industry, Vice-Admiral Sir Humphrey Thomas Walwyn, governor of Newfoundland since 1936, said prior to his recent retirement from that post.

"There will always be a substantial demand for salt fish and there is no reason why prices should fall to pre-war level," he said before a joint meeting of the Newfoundland Board of Trade and a St. John's service club.

"I am certain there is a great future for the fisheries of this country if she will seize her opportunities and work them out steadily," he said. "When fishermen refuse to go out after the crews consider to go out after the enough money for the season, and when men work for a few months and having made a few hundred dollars walk out and blow it for six weeks, the outlook for the future is rather disconcerting.

"The herring industry has recently had a great incentive and I hope will continue to maintain a large export market. Some of the most prosperous parts of Newfoundland are where the herring fishery is actively prosecuted.

"Newfoundland's war effort was magnificent and her contribution in manpower to the navy, army and air force, merchant navy, foresters and civil defence has often received generous and worthy tribute in England and elsewhere.

"The war brought a boom of prosperity to the island which completely transformed the economic position of the country, and I hope this will continue for many years to come.

"It is a debatable point as to whether this country can be called 'self-supporting'; at the present time, yes, but looking some years ahead, I doubt if it will be for practical purposes, even with our present surplus of nearly $25,000,000."

Jap Beating Told By British Colonel

LONDON, (CP)—Lt.-Col. S.E.H. White, formerly of the Royal Scots regiment, testified at the court-martial of Maj. Cecil Boon Thursday the Japanese boxed his ears repeatedly and assaulted him four times with rifle-butts and sword scabbards while he was a prisoner of war at Hong Kong.

Maj. Boon is charged with aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war at the same camp. The prosecution described the defendant as staff officer at the Hong Kong garrison when the crown colony fell Christmas day, 1941.

Col White said four of his friends in the prisoner camp were executed after "a wireless incident."

In May, 1942, he said every prisoner was required by the Japanese to swear that he would not escape. All signed under duress.

A second witness, Capt. L.G. Crosby of the British army said that while Boon had the same food as the others he had plenty of cigarettes—something the other prisoners sometimes went short of.

"Boon used to bow to the Japs and salute most obsequiously," Capt Crosby said. "He would walk around camp at nights snooping."

At the opening of the trial, Col. R.C. Halse, prosecutor, said the accused ordered two Canadians to write reports for the Japanese on the defence of Hong Kong. The Canadians were identified as a Maj. Ashton and Capt. Elmer Norman Dennison of Dannville, Que.

South Discusses Water Projects

LETHBRIDGE, —(CP)— Broad plans for future water conservation and irrigation development in southern Alberta involving millions of dollars, which could carry water to hundreds of thousands of acres of now semi-arid lands were discussed Thursday in the first session of a conference under the auspices of the Southern Alberta Water Conservation Council.

George Spence of Regina, director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, reviewed the southern Alberta program of P.F.R.A., stressed the acceptance now given to the policy of capital costs of irrigation being borne by governments rather than by the projects themselves, the start made on the St. Mary river dam project at Spring Coulee and the progress on the East Pot Hole Coulee dam near Magrath.

The meeting urged every effort should be made to urge upon the federal and provincial governments the need for an agreement on allocation of costs in connection with future irrigation development. Some speakers said the breakdown of the recent dominion-provincial conference had delayed such an agreement but the imperative need of a joint understanding was stressed.

The need of representations now to the provincial government urging the setting aside of money for proceeding with the distribution system and colonization of the new lands to be brought under water along with the work on the dams themselves was urged.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Curiosity is the motivating force of education. The individual without curiosity goes through life unaware or indifferent to the wonders of life and living which surround him.

CHILDREN ARE FULL of curiosity. They want to know the names of everything. "Wass dat?" "Wass its name?" they ask from the moment they have command of the words

As the child grows any parent is hard put to keep up with the questions he asks. Adults accept thunder and lightning as one of the natural phenomenons. Not the child. "But, I want to know what it is," he demands And someone has to tell him.

CURIOSITY MAY BE, and often is, throttled by the parent too lazy to find the answers of which she herself is ignorant. That attitude will inevitably be copied by her child. Well, who cares, or what's the difference, comes to illustrate his petrified curiosity.

Children's questions demand that the parent find an answer somewhere, if she hasn't the information herself. It does not diminish her stature to admit that she doesn't know it. No one, even a mother, can know everything.

Questions are aggravating when a child uses them as conversational ammunition. His interest in the answer is idle but he finds he can force attention from the parent, divert her interest from other persons toward him, if he asks her a question. It may be nothing more than important than the retort of "Why" to some declarative statement of hers, but it keeps the conversation alive and the child wants it continued. Since the child's desire is merely to be sociable, the parent should encourage him to talk and thus develop his conversational abilities. There are adults whose only way to converse is to ask questions.

SOMETIMES, it may be necessary, to turn the question back to the child and let him find the answer. If it is a silly question he'll recognize it as such and abandon it.

Sex questions are among the important and inevitable ones. They deserve the same conscientious attention as would be given all others. Not an explanation to end all explanations but just an answer to what is asked, when it is asked. Later as he grows there will be time for other questions and a fuller exposition of a complicated subject.

PARENTS SHOULD consider all questions in this way: Are they worth answering and do they contribute to the child's information and knowledge? If they are and do she must find the proper answers somewhere.

Our leaflet No. 70 "Asking Why and What For," considers some of those puzzlers such as questions about death. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN.

Why Grow Old?

Mild exercise, even milder than the one Actress Suzi Crandall, above, is doing, will be beneficial to you if you want to gain weight.

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "WHAT IS MEANT by the knee chest position?"

A. This is a position advised by physicians after childbirth because it places internal organs in the correct position. Kneel on both knees. Place your arms on the floor in front of you and rest your head on your arms. Stick the hips as high up as you can.

Q. "Can you tell me how to improve my figure? I am 22 years old and weigh 109 pounds. I am five feet, four inches tall. My bust is 32, waist 24, and hips 36. Should I exercise while on a diet to gain weight?"

A. A MILD EXERCISE is an aid in a weight gaining program. Strenuous exercise is not recommended. Walking, and especially swimming, are beneficial. Deep breathing and relaxing exercises are splendid. Your figure is well proportioned if you will bring the bust and hip measurements closer together. You can best judge what is needed because the answer depends partly on your build. Build the bust up or slim the hips down, or a little of both. A few exercises of this kind will not hinder your gaining program.

Q. "What is the correct weight for a girl 19 whose height is five feet, three inches? Normal boney structure.

A. One hundred and sixteen pounds, a little less or a little more depending on build.

Q. "PLEASE GIVE ME a safe remedy for removing hair from my face, other than electrolysis.

A. Cosmetic wax. This is not permanent and must be repeated from time to time.

Q. "I am five feet, two inches tall and weigh 130 pounds. Bust 34, waist 27, and hips 40. I know my hips are too large. What can I do for wrinkles on my neck and face? I have just lost a lot of weight. My weight was 174 and now is 130. I am only 30 years old and shouldn't have wrinkles, should I?"

A. No, you should not. It may be that you lost your weight too rapidly. Congratulations on the loss. I know you look and feel one hundred per cent better. Do facial and neck exercises and use a good lubricating cream on your neck and face. One of the hormone creams might help. Another ten pounds less and a few hip exercises should make you just about perfect.

Q. "PLEASE GIVE ME the best exercise you know for removing those two nasty bulges on my hips just below the waistline.

A. Stand erect with feet apart. As you bend to the left raise your right arm up by your ear and hold it there. Try to touch the floor with your left hand. Raise your trunk. Bend to the right this time, trying to touch your right ear to the floor. As you bend right raise the left arm up by the ear and hold it there. Continue, alternating left and right. Keep your knees straight throughout, and if you cannot touch the floor, go as far down toward it as you can.

Most animals have seven vertebrae but there seems to be no definite standard. Swans have 25 ducks about 16 and the tiny hummingbird 14.

Women are demanding new and original designs in their beloved Prints! Some new ones are—Yellow coach lanterns on a Black background; Nasturtiums, yellow and Orange, on a brown surface. THESE WOMEN

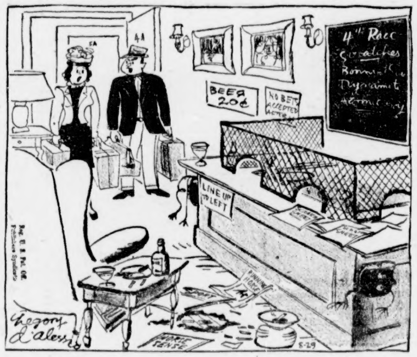
By d'Alessio



"YOU were the one who was willing to sublet our apartment without asking for references!"

Dorothy Dix Says

This is holiday time of the year when everybody gets a vacation except Mom. Father's employer gives him his two weeks off. The kids are let out of school. The adolescents go to camps. Everyone relaxes and takes it easy, for it is generally recognized that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy and that even a short rest and a little change sends us back to our jobs refreshed and full of pep and energy.

The only exception to this rule is Mother, who is popularly believed to be so constructed that she never tires or gets fed up on domesticity and who is so devoted to her home and family that she simply would die of heartbreak if she were separated from them for even a few days. Naturally no one would be guilty of this inhuman cruelty, so while Dad goes fishing and the youngsters amuse themselves in their own ways, Mom keeps on doing her daily stint on the treadmill.

HE MEANS well, of course, and his wife has to pretend to like it, but if the average wife's vacation is intended as a rest cure, a pleasure or a treat, it is the most ironic thing in the world. For if she is unfortunate enough to be cursed with a seaside bungalow or a mountain cottage, she runs a free hotel, for all of her deadbeat relatives and friends, who descend upon her like the wolf on the fold. No relaxing for her. She has to be up and doing with her own hands, in a region where servants are as scarse as hens' teeth, and where there are no corner groceries or delicatessen shops to help out in an emergency.

BUT ALL THE SAME, Mom needs a vacation worse than anybody else in the family and it is coming to her. Husbands should have enough gumption to see that it is not only their duty to their wives to provide them with one, but it is also the best insurance they can take out against having to live with a fretful, nervous woman and pay a lot of doctors' bills when Maria comes home with nervous prostration from her summer orgy.

If every husband would give his wife a vacation every summer, if he would get some reliable woman to come and take charge of his home and children for a couple of weeks and let his wife go off alone, to some place she wanted to go, she would come back so improved in looks, health and temper he scarcely would know her.

Try it, husbands.

Opening—♠ A 21

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

While it does not happen often, a deuce can be just as important as an ace, and in today's hand deuces play the leading role.

North deserved commendation for showing no hesitation about opening his ace of spades, even though it was from the ace-queen The bidding indicated that East had the king of spades or other strength to justify his jump to four hearts.

Now South did not put the six of spades on the ace to start an echo. He played the deuce, which said, "Partner, do not lead any more spades." Of course it could have asked for a club shift, except that dummy was void of clubs.

North played the nine of diamonds, the jack was played from dummy and South won with the queen. West played the eight, concealing the four and three. South knew that if North had held the 9-4-3-2 of diamonds, he would have led the deuce; therefore West was false-carding.

South now led the ace of diamonds and North put on the deuce, definitely marking him out of diamonds. So South could safely lead another diamond for North to ruff, thus defeating the contract.

General Duty Nurse

By LUCY AGNES HANCOCK

XX

THE patient in 415 was suffering from biliary diabetes and was now in a critical condition. His skin was yellow as saffron and he was weak and inordinately depressed. He had been in the hospital six weeks and already three nurses had been on the case succeeding each other at two-week intervals. The three girls met in Sally Maynard's room one afternoon following the first night of her handling of the case. Sally who had slept until 3 was dressing to go out for a walk before dinner.

Norma Holden sat stiffly on the window seat. Her mouth was sullen and her eyes stormy. Somehow in spite of the girl's obvious enmity for Sally Maynard, she persisted in haunting her presence.

"Don't try to tell us you don't mind 415, Sally Maynard," Dora cried. "Even if you say so I wouldn't believe you. Nobody could possibly endure much less enjoy that old reprobate."

"I don't understand how you got it, Maynard," Norma broke in, her tone bitter. "Yours are mostly the hand-picked cases. It's the rest of us who draw the untouchables."

Margaret Adams saw Sally's face change as Norma talked and admired the girl's self-control.

"Mr. Fowler isn't an easy case," she replied. "But the man is suffering and terribly uncomfortable. It seems to me that when we, who are nurses and perfectly well, realize something of what the patient is enduring, it should make us forget the unpleasant phases—make us eager to help him."

"Spoken like a true follower of Nightingale," jeered Norma, getting to her feet. "I'll leave you disciples of the noble Flossie to your devotions and go some place where the air is less rarefied. 'Bye. See you at dinner." The door closed after her and the remaining three stared silently at each other for a long moment before Dora Bronson spoke.

"Don't mind Holden, girls," she advised evenly. "She's got a bad case of internitis. She's gone completely goofy over our irresistible Doctor Kildare and I say devoutly: 'God help her!' She hasn't as much chance there as a mushroom in one of Mrs. Billings' ragouts or whatever she calls them. And while we're on the subject of food," she went on, "my stomach is empty. Let's go out somewhere and eat."

• • •

"LET'S go to Lowe's," Sally said. "We'll have time to make it there and back before 7."

"These weekly binges sort of make up for the routine meals we get here, don't they?" Margaret Adams said. "Here I eat because I have to—not because I really enjoy eating. See what I mean?"

Dora's roguish eyes surveyed the ample waist of the older nurse and she grinned. "You look well nourished, Maggie," she said.

"I'm not really overweight for my height," Margaret countered. "Maybe five pounds or so, but I need every one of them the way I work."

"You're just right," Dora said contritely, and laughed. "There we go again—admiring each other, and I don't think it's good for us. Makes us self-satisfied and insular."

"Speaking of self-satisfaction, girls," Margaret said. "Have you noticed Doctor Hallock lately? What's become of his complacency? The man looks worried and almost unhappy. I wonder what's happened." Her eyes searched the lovely face of Sally Maynard for a moment before the girl hastily turned to search for something in her desk. She had been avoiding Doctor Hallock since the day he had taken such unfair advantage of her.

"I hadn't noticed," Dora said, in reply to Margaret's remarks. "Maybe it's Holden. You know she's mad about him and somehow I can't see him falling for her. Can you?"

• • •

MARGARET shook her head. Sally made no comment and continued her search. At last she said, her face still averted: "Run along. I'll be with you just as soon as I find that letter."

Instantly alert, Dora asked, "It couldn't by any chance be from Blair, could it, Sally?"

"Blair is dead," Sally replied and thought: Now I suppose I'll have to tell more lies.

"You're not sure," Dora pointed out. "Missing doesn't necessarily mean dead. He may be a prisoner somewhere."

"And who is this Blair, if I may be so bold without offense?" Margaret demanded, looking from Dora's inquisitive face to Sally's bent figure.

Dora clapped her hand to her mouth. "Gosh, Sally!" she cried. "I'm sorry. But why don't you tell Maggie, too?"

"There's really nothing to tell," Sally replied, coming up for air and minus the letter for which she had been, ostensibly, searching. "A man I know was lost in the Pacific area at the beginning of the war. Nothing has been heard of him since. That's all."

"All!" cried Dora. "You left out the best part—the only part that counts. They were lovers, Maggie. She was practically engaged to this Blair—something or other. Anyway, he went to war and never came back. And in consequence, our Sally intends devoting her bruised and broken life to good works."

Margaret was watching Sally in wonder. So that was the explanation of her aloofness. A dead lover. Well, it made sense, in a way. "I wonder if that's what ails Hallock," she asked herself.

TURKEYS WERE NEVER NATIVE TO NEW ENGLAND

Although there were wild turkeys in the Allegheny Mountains of Pennsylvania, the turkeys used by the Pilgrims for Thanksgiving dinners were not native fowls. They came a long way to get there. Turkeys were domesticated in Southern Mexico, and were carried to Spain by returning Conquistadores about 1519. From there, the turkey was taken to France and Italy, and finally reached England in the reign of Henry VIII. Nearly a century later, the pilgrims brought them on the Mayflower to raise in America. It was these domesticated turkeys that were used for the first Thanksgiving dinners.
